POLICE SEEK EXTRADITION OF W. BAGLEY

Man Convicted of Nanaimo Bank Robbery Held in Bellingham

MAY BE INVOLVED IN VALLEY HOTEL CASE

Attempts at Identification by Victims Fail—Will Be Questioned

Extradition proceedings will be started immediately by the province to secure the return to Canadian soil of William Bagley, against whom the Provincial Police believe they have evidence concerning the Harrison Hot Springs Hotel robbery sufficient to warrant a request for the handing over of the man detained at Bellingham for questioning.

Formal move for extradition will be launched without delay, Attorney-General Pooley stated yesterday.

Bagley was detained by American officers when found within a few miles of the international border line, near Sumas, armed with a loaded shotgun, and is being held meanwhile in the Whatcom County jail.

IDENTIFICATION FAILS

Attempted identification of the man as one of a party of three masked bandits who blew open the resort hotel recently and escaped with a small amount of cash and securities, failed yesterday, when a Japanese brought face to face with a line-up, said he could not recognize anyone there.

A man, giving the name of O'Neill, was picked up near Sumas by the authorities at the same time. Bagley was taciturn and declined to discuss his movements of the last few days. O'Neill talked freely, giving the authorities an itinerary, which, he said, accounted for his own whereabouts in the same period. A third man, seen near Sumas, eluded capture.

MOVE TO EXTRADITE

Bagley, after his detention at the request of the British Columbia police, moved to effect his release

Many Dead In Battle For Water

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—The Herald's Jerusalem correspondent says more than eighty persons were killed or wounded in a fierce fight between Bedouins and others for water around a desert well, the exact location of which was not determined.

Report came from motorists en route to Damascus from Southern Irak. It said that the natives, suffering from thirst because of drought, had traveled long distances to the well.

Recent dispatches said that hundreds of shepherds and tribesmen were reported dying of thirst in the desert of Southern Syria and Central Arabia.

WOULD ALTER PREFERENCES

Bill Would Give First Rights to Positions to Canadian Veterans

DEBATE INDICATES DIVIDED OPINIONS

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Changes in the preferences granted returned soldiers when applying for Federal Government positions, was the aim or a bill discussed tonight in the House of Commons.

Sponsored by Oscar Boulanger, Liberal member for Bellechase, the measure would restrict to former members of the Canadian Corps, the preferred positions now open to members of any Allied army.

After a considerable discussion, which indicated both support and opposition to the bill on either side of the House, the debate was adjourned. It will probably come up again on Monday.

As the law stands at present, a Russian, Rumanian, Japanese or Portuguese who fought in the army of his country in the Great War, who had been a resident of Canada three years, had a preference over a native-born Canadian who did not see service, the Quebec Liberal asserted.

Two other amendments to the present law were contained in the Boulanger bill. One would enlarge the period of residence in Canada, needed by any foreign-born when applying for a Government posi-

Fingerprints Recorded

BESIDES leaving his footprints on the sands of time, President Oritz Rubio, of Mexico, will also leave his fingerprints to posterity. Recently a Mexican Government edict went forth that all Government employees must have their fingerprints on record at the comptroller's office, and the first volunteer was none other than the Chief Executive himself. The above picture shows President Rubio cheerfully submitting to what we have come to regard as an indignity.

Revolt Against Dictatorship in Portugal Begins

Members of President Carmona's Cabinet Seek Refuge in Lisbon Barracks—Explosions Take Place in Midst of Great Crowd of Demonstrators—Armored Cars Patrol Streets

Declaration of Martial Law Is Anticipated Momentarily

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)

LISBON, May 1 (AP).—Libson tonight was a city of fear. A movement against the dictatorship of President Oscar Carmona obviously was under way, but the populace knew nothing of its scope and could only await developments anxiously.

Following the explosion of a bomb in connection with May Day demonstrations, members of the cabinet fled to the shelter of the barracks of the Third Artillery Regiment, which has become an almost traditional haven for officials when trouble is brewing.

Heavily armed troops maintained vigil at all strategic points and armored cars patrolled the streets in unceasing watch for a repetition of today's outbreaks. The streets were otherwise deserted and business houses were barred and shuttered.

Declaration of martial law was anticipated momentarily in view of the Government's feeling that the uprising was distinctly different from those of previous years and bore a revolutionary complexion.

"DOWN WITH DICTATORSHIP"

The explosions occurred in the midst of a great crowd of demonstrators, including many middle class citizens, who gathered in the Rocio Square and raised shouts of "Down with the dictatorship!" The fragments of the bomb flew in all directions but caused no casualties, the only victim being a horse of one of the republican guards. Troops of cavalry rode through the demonstrators and eventually succeeded in clearing the square.

In preoccupation over their own troubles, the public has almost forgotten the revolt against the Government in the Madeira Islands. The rebels were believed to be still occupying Funchal against the advancing forces of the naval expedition.

TO ADVOCATE WHEAT BOARD

Premier Bracken, of Manitoba, Will Urge Plan "to Insure Orderly Marketing"

CONFERENCE TO ASK FEDERAL GOV'T AID

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP).—Premier John Bracken of Manitoba will urge creation of a Canadian wheat board, to "insure the orderly marketing of the 1931 and 1932 crops," at a conference of Prairie Premiers at Saskatoon, on Monday, he said today.

The conference had been called, Mr. Bracken said, so that an agreement would be reached as to the most satisfactory method of dealing with the marketing of the new crop.

A UNITED FRONT

As in matters having to do with agriculture during the last year, the three Prairie Governments intend to show a united front in demands made of the Dominion Government, Premier Bracken commented. In advocating establishment of a wheat board similar to one formed in 1919, he would be carrying out the unanimous desire of the Manitoba Legislature.

If Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta and Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan agree to the Manitoba Premier's proposal, the Dominion Government will be called on to approve the plan at the present session of Parliament.

SPECIAL SESSIONS

Special sessions of the three Western Legislatures would have to be held, Mr. Bracken said, to pass enabling legislation, providing approval is given at Ottawa, if a board is to be established in time to market the 1931 crop.

Representatives of all Prairie organizations, the wheat pools and grain marketing bodies will meet with the Premiers at Saskatoon, said Mr. Bracken. Alternative proposals, he thought, also will be discussed.

Nanaimo Man Is Critically Hurt When Hit by Car

NANAIMO, May 1. — Alphonse Clarck, 302 Dixon Street, received a fractured skull and possibly other injuries when struck by an auto driven by Walter Auld, of Lantzville, at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon.

Clarck was crossing from Perry's barber shop to the fire hall at Victoria Road intersection and was half way across when struck. He was thrown to the pavement. The injured man was taken to the hospital, where an operation was performed. Clarck's condition is reported to be critical.

URGE REMOVAL OF GEN. CHIANG TO AVOID WAR

Rebels in Southern Provinces Distrust Nationalist Chieftain at Nanking

MILITARY GOVERNOR IN CHARGE AT CANTON

Armed Guards Patrol Bridges to Foreign Settlement on Island

HONGKONG, May 1 (AP).—Rebellion and secession of Kwangtung and Kwangsi Provinces were reported plotted today against the Nationalist Government of China. The price of peace was said to be removal of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek from headship of the republic to a subordinate position.

Many Nationalist officials, including Governor Chen Ming Chu, have fled from Canton to Hongkong, leaving the situation controlled by General Chen Chi-Tang, military governor.

Troop concentrations were reported begun by Chen Chi-Tang to support expected declaration of Kwangtung and Kwangsi Province independence by Southern Kuomintang (National People's Party) leaders working for Chiang Kai-Shek's overthrow.

Several Chinese warships lay inactive in the Pearl River at Canton, and the city remained quiet, but the natives hid their valuables.

FOREIGNERS ARE WATCHFUL

Some 700 foreigners on Shameen Island maintained their watchful attitude, and guards patrolled bridges connecting the island settlement with Canton and its 2,000,000 Chinese.

Chiang Kai-Shek, who led his troops victoriously against provincial war lords in 1926 and 1927, to erect the Nationalist Government at Nanking, was accused by Cantonese leaders of desiring to make himself president of China in name as well as fact. They asserted he intended to make use of his command of the army and his leading membership in Government and Kuomintang Councils to enhance his power.

BIG POWER UNIT IS CONSIDERED

West Kootenay Concern Would Install Fifth Plant on Kootenay River

Marking another step in its progressive development of hydro-electric plants in the West, the West Kootenay Light & Power Company, associated with the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, has applied for leave to proceed with its fifth power plant on the Kootenay River.

The work would involve the development of about 30,000 additional horsepower, through use of the lower part of the river between Slocan South and the point where it enters the Columbia, by erection of a new plant opposite Brilliant.

The application was filed yesterday with the Provincial Water Board, and is part of a definite move by the company to harness the entire waters of the Kootenay River for the development of power. Existing plants on the river utilize the water from Kootenay Lake to Slocan South.

The same organization is also pushing its extensive developments at Coralinn, and on the Pend Oreille River, the latter being the largest undertaking of its kind in the West. Throughout the Winter the company had many men employed in clearing the course of the river to improve the flow.

IS BURNED TO DEATH

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP).—Six-year-old Edward Allum was burned to death last night when flames destroyed the Allum home at Oak Lake, Man., it was learned here this afternoon. Nine other children were rescued by the parents, both Thomas Allum and his wife being badly burned in heroic efforts to save their family.

Former British Diplomat Died in Voluntary Exile Because He Hated Society

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP). — John Hornby, who gave up a brilliant career in the British diplomatic service to live a hermit's life in the barren lands of the Canadian Northwest, died because he hated society. Companion of Hornby for a year in his voluntary snowland exile, Captain James C. Critchell-Bullock, veteran British soldier, today described him as the "hermit of the Arctic."

It was three years after Critchell-Bullock departed from the Far North that Hornby, Adlard and Christian died of starvation in 1927. Their deaths took place so far from civilization that it took Royal Canadian Mounted Police twenty-six months to bring out the bodies.

A little man, no taller than five-foot-four, Hornby was a man who "could run 100 miles, starve like a gentleman and finally dig his own grave in advance, with everything prepared so that he could enclose himself in it before all his strength left him." That was Critchell-Bullock's tribute to the once polished diplomat of London.

"But he hated society and actually starved to death for that reason," the captain said. Critchell-Bullock is en route to Edmonton and the Pacific Coast.

SENATOR FOR QUEBEC DIES

Hon. G. G. Foster, K.C., Succumbs Suddenly—Three Vacancies in Chamber

HON. C. C. BALLANTYNE MIGHT GO TO SENATE

OTTAWA, May 1.—The death of Hon. G. G. Foster, K.C., leaves the standing in the Senate as forty-eight Liberals, forty-five Conservatives and three vacancies. When the vacancies are filled the parties will be equal in numerical strength. Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries in the Unionist Government from 1917 to 1921, will probably be appointed to the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Foster.

MONTREAL, May 1.—Stricken by heart failure as he rested in his home here, Hon. George Green Foster, K.C., Conservative Senator for the division of Alma in the Eastern Townships of Quebec, died suddenly today. The Senator, who was seventy-one years old, had been in poor health for the past few years, and had weakened about two weeks ago.

MADE SENATOR IN 1917

Mr. Foster was made a Senator in 1917, when he filled the vacancy created by the death of Hon. Robert Mackay. Senator Foster was elected batonnier of the Montreal Bar on May 1, 1919.

He was vice-president of Armstrong-Whitworth of Canada, Limited; George Hall Coal Company; director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Dominion Gresham Guarantee Company, Canadian Light & Power Company, Aluminum Company of America, Imperial Realty Company, Johnston-Richardson Company Limited and other companies.

HEADS LEGAL FIRM

For many years he had been head of the legal firm of Foster, Place, Hackett, Mulvena, Hackett & Foster in Montreal.

POLICE DISCIPLINE IN CANADA CHECKS MAY DAY DISORDER

Communists Celebrate International Labor Day—Twenty-Five Arrested and Many Slightly Injured in Minor Skirmishes in Various Centres—Big Demonstration in Winnipeg

Serious Riots Are Reported in Parts Of Europe; Day Quieter Than Usual

TORONTO, May 1 (CP).—The iron hand of discipline ruled over Canada today as Communists in various parts of the Dominion attempted to celebrate International Labor Day. Well organized battalions of police swarmed all over the parades and meetings, and in the majority of cases disturbances were curbed before they really began.

Municipal, provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, afoot, on horseback, motorcycles and in automobiles, swept down upon the demonstrators, kept crowds moving and completed a difficult task with a minimum of disorder. Tonight all is quiet.

SCORE ARRESTED

Slight injuries are reported in many localities, while in various municipal jails overzealous celebrators are awaiting trial on minor charges. As nearly as can be estimated not more than twenty-five Communists in the entire country were arrested today, and some of these will be released from custody when their ardor has cooled.

Winnipeg had probably the largest demonstration of any Canadian city, but it was without any serious consequences. Mounted and provincial police were called from their posts in rural districts, but their services were not required.

RIOTS IN EUROPE

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Serious riots in Barcelona and Bilbao in Spain; Lisbon, Portugal, and Lubarton, Poland, constituted the principal violence in Europe's observance of May Day.

Three Communists and two police were killed in the Polish town in a general melee between authorities and demonstrators. Two persons lost their lives in a fray in Barcelona, and several were gravely wounded in Bilbao.

In general, however, the day passed more quietly than in other years and with the absence at most places of casualties or serious incidents.

Floods in China Force Thousands To Desert Homes

KIUKIANG, May 1 (AP).—Advices from Nanchang today said thousands of persons residing along the Kan River fled to the highlands to escape floods which wiped out their homes. The high water followed torrential rains in Central Kiangsi Province.

The loss of life was reported considerable but no figures were given.

SIX VACANCIES IN PARLIAMENT

Sir Frank Nelson, Conservative M.P. for Gloucestershire, Resigns Seat

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—By-elections follow each other with unceasing political turmoil. Sir Frank Nelson, Conservative member for Gloucestershire, resigned his seat today by the traditional procedure of applying for the "Chiltern Hundreds," and a sixth vacancy was created in the House of Commons.

There is no formal manner of resignation from the House, and members wishing to retire apply for the stewardship of the "Chiltern Hundreds," or the Manor of Northstead, purely nominal offices under the Crown, and acceptance of which vacates the holder's seat in Parliament. After the resignation is completed, the retiring member relinquishes his honorary post, which becomes available for the next resignation.

The vacant seat for Ashton-under-Lyne was filled yesterday, but at the same time another Labor seat became vacant by the death of Sir James Melville, Labor member for Gateshead.

The four other vacancies are St. Rollox, Glasgow, formerly held by Labor; Ogmore, formerly held by Labor; Scarborough, formerly held by a Conservative, and Rutherglen, Labor.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP).—The King and Queen of Siam, accompanied by members of their party, left Washington today for New York.

IRREGULARITIES TO BE PROBED

Charges Made in House—Public Works Minister Promises Action

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Alleged irregularities in the Public Works Department will be investigated, and, regardless of the political affiliations of those concerned, the Government will prosecute all persons who are found to have committed such irregularities, declared Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, in the House of Commons today.

The minister's declaration came in the course of a discussion precipitated by J. F. Pouliot (Liberal, Temiscouata). It arose when Mr. Pouliot demanded to know if the foreman of works on the wharf at Riviere du Loop, Quebec, had been recommended for appointment by C. E. Dube, whom he characterized as "the perpetual Tory candidate in Temiscouata."

OUTLINES ALLEGATIONS

Failing to receive a definite reply beyond the statement that the appointment had been made in accordance with the customary routine of the department, Mr. Pouliot proceeded to outline alleged irregularities involving malfeasance of public money in connection with this work.

Mr. Pouliot admitted the money allegedly misappropriated had since been refunded.

On that point the minister said that in at least two cases the department had information that under the former administration work was paid for that had not been performed. In another case men had been paid for attending political meetings and had been driven around in motor cars at departmental expense.

WILL PROSECUTE

"I am determined that the administration of the Public Works Department should be creditable to Canada and to the House of Commons," said Mr. Stewart, "If the honorable gentleman — or any other honorable member of the House—knows of any irregularities and will give me the information, these will be investigated and prosecution will follow, regardless of party politics."

The irregularities mentioned by the minister had not taken place in Temiscouata, Mr. Pouliot said.

Briand Checkmate to Sensational Customs Union Plan Revealed

French Foreign Minister Suggests Definite Proportional Allotments of Surplus Grain Production Under Preferential Tariff System

By PAUL SCOTT MOWRER
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PARIS, May 2.—It is possible today to reveal the main outlines of the plan which Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France has drafted and will present at Geneva on May 15 to thwart and replace the sensational Austro-German Customs Union project.

M. Briand's plan falls into two parts—agricultural and industrial.

AGRICULTURAL

1. Agricultural — The industrial states, Germany France, Belgium, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Italy, and possibly Great Britain, would agree to take the surplus grain production of the agricultural states, Hungary, Rumania, Jugoslavia, Bulgaria and Poland, by definite proportional allotments under a preferential tariff system. It is claimed that the surpluses of these European grain countries are not so considerable as seriously to hurt the exports of overseas grain exporters like Canada, the United States and the Argentine.

Yet, by way of special concession to these overseas countries, and in order to gain their good will in the matter of the proposed preferential tariffs, European agricultural states would be asked to lower their tariffs on certain manufactured goods. All the industrial exporting states, it is said, would then benefit under the most favored nation clause.

INDUSTRIAL

2. Industrial — The industrial states of Europe would extend and complete cartels to limit production and allot markets. Through the International Labor Bureau at Geneva, they would agree to institute generally a working day shorter than eight hours. Tariffs generally would be first stabilized, then lowered, and then equalized. International arrangements would be made for cheaper credits, both to industry and agriculture. For farm loans, a project for a new international bank already exists and will be submitted at Geneva.

The Geneva debate will apparently be centred in three successive arenas: First, the European Union Committee; second, the Austrian Loan Protocol Committee, consisting of Austria, Italy, France, Great Britain and Czechoslovakia, but excluding Germany; and, third, the League of Nations Council. If, after running this gauntlet, the Austro-German project is still alive, France and its allies seem determined to continue the battle by reference to the Permanent Court of International Justice, and also on political, economic and judicial grounds by whatever measures seem expedient.

TAX ON POTATOES NOW IN DISCARD

Fixed Value for Duty Purposes Is Dropped but New Tubers Must Be Graded

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—The fair market value fixed for duty purposes of new potatoes of 6c a pound has been discarded. The question was before the Cabinet today, it is understood, when the decision was made to allow potatoes to be imported, subject only to the regular tariff of ¾c a pound.

The fixing of the 6c value had been announced by the Department of National Revenue on April 22. It brought considerable protest from Virginia and the Southern States producers, who declared that since they bought large quantities of their seed potatoes from the Maritime Provinces, it was an injustice to keep their products out of Canada by so high a duty as this "dumping" provision brought into effect. Under the 6c provision, the import against potatoes included the difference between the invoice price and the 6c.

The Maritime potato growers also urged on the Government the advisability of dropping the 6c valuation.

New potatoes, however, imported henceforth will come under the Grading Act, which only allows first and second grade potatoes to be sold to the public in this country. This provision has been in force for some time in regard to mature potatoes.

PLANS LAID TO GREET AVIATOR

PRINCE RUPERT, May 1.—Seiji Hoshiwara, Japanese flyer, who is about to attempt a flight across the North Pacific from Tokio to San Francisco, is expected to arrive here about May 15. The local Japanese association is making elaborate plans for his reception and the city and Board of Trade will co-operate.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN HONDURAS REPORTED

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 1 (AP).—Fierce fighting was reported today to have taken place between rebel forces in the North and Government troops.

The rebels started an attack this morning on Santa Rosa De Copan, leading northwestern city, in the centre of the tobacco zone, which is famous for its Mayan ruins. Two hours later, at noon, all telegraphic communications with the city had been interrupted.

News of the fighting was received from other towns in the vicinity.

Voices Plea for Closer Economic Union of Empire

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, in May Day Address, Stresses Danger of Permitting Unrestricted Imports —By-Election Victory for Protection

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—A strong plea for protection and for closer economic union of the nations of the British Empire was made by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, in a May Day speech at a meeting of the Primrose League at the Royal Albert Hall this afternoon.

Mr. Baldwin, presiding at the demonstration, declared they must devote all their energies to achieving the economic union of the Empire, more important now than ever before in view of the general world situation.

Disraeli, almost alone among British statesmen, had had the vision to see the danger of permitting unrestricted imports, the Conservative leader said.

MUST PRESERVE EMPIRE

In a world that had become largely chaotic, it was more than ever necessary to preserve that quarter of the world—the British Empire—for which the blood of British men was responsible, in peace and health and well-being, Mr. Baldwin declared. Therefore they must at the present moment devote the utmost of their energies to achieving economic union "of our own people."

Mr. Baldwin added he thought the country was fast making up its mind on the question of protection. The victory in Ashton-Under-Lyne yesterday, when the Conservatives recaptured the seat from Labor, was a verdict in that sense. With other by-election victories, the death knell of the Labor Government was sounding.

"The election cannot long be deferred," Mr. Baldwin concluded.

TO SPEND MORE UPON PUBLICITY

Old Country Learning It Pays to Advertise in Order to Attract Tourists

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—The Old Country is learning that it pays to advertise. She proposes to spend more and more on publicity to attract tourists.

With the support of the Government and all parties, a private bill empowering municipal authorities to contribute to approved tourist associations received final reading in the House of Commons today. It was pointed out that despite the depression, tourists visiting Great Britain from the United States alone numbered 4,600 more in 1930 than in the previous year.

And the members of both sides of the House vied in extolling the attractions of their constituencies.

May Table Grain Report Next Week

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—The report of the Grain Inquiry Commission headed by Sir Josiah Stamp is not expected to be tabled in Parliament before the latter part of next week. Certain details, it is understood, have to be included in the document before the report is in complete form and handed to the Government.

SEAPLANE BASE DECISION NEAR

Mayor Anscomb Receives Telegrams of Assurance of an Early Settlement

Assurance of an early decision concerning the proposed establishment of a seaplane base in the Inner Harbor was contained in telegrams received yesterday by Mayor Herbert Anscomb from E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Minister of National Defence.

The telegrams were in reply to messages forwarded earlier in the week to the heads of the two railways, Cabinet ministers, and others interested in the project, requesting an early settlement of difficulties in connection with the granting of approval to use city-owned water lots at the foot of Erie Street for a seaplane landing place.

While the messages were noncommittal, they carried the assurance that the matter was under advisement by the railways and the Government departments concerned. Alderman W. T. Straith, who, as chairman of the aviation and industrial committee of the City Council, has had charge of all negotiations, expressed the hope that a decision would be reached, one way or the other, within the next week or ten days.

Should approval of the proposed site be granted by the Government, negotiations will be reopened with Edward Lowe, head of the Pacific International Airways for the establishment of a triangle seaplane service to Vancouver and Seattle, with Victoria as headquarters.

through counsel, obtaining a writ of habeas corpus, argument on which is to proceed in the American courts today. Through other channels the extradition application will be advanced at the same time, it is understood. Canadian currency is said to have been found in his possession.

Careful search of the resort hotel following the robbery is said to have placed the provincial police in possession of knowledge which is being carefully withheld at this time. The robbery, it is now known, was far from being a "perfect" crime, and clues and traces dropped at the scene have formed a definite picture of what took place.

Good descriptions were obtained of a party of masked bandits, who carried out the affair, and later eluded police cordons thrown about the locality where they had abandoned their first car.

The escape, it is believed, was made by canoe across the river, and then a second car was brought into play. This, too, was shortly abandoned, and the bandits are believed to have separated and proceeded on foot. Police and sheriffs on both sides of the boundary line patroled the Lower Mainland area for some days without result.

RECENTLY PAROLED

Bagley was released from the New Westminster penitentiary last November, after serving eight years of a sentence of ten years he received on conviction of taking part in the robbery of the Royal Bank of Canada at Nanaimo.

The Nanaimo hold-up had been a spectacular affair, in which $42,000 was looted from the bank by a body of five men, heavily armed. The bandits entered the province in two parties, two hiring a "drive-yourself" vehicle at Victoria and proceeding to Nanaimo, joining south of that point with three others, who came by power boat from across the international border. At the bank the bandits entered in broad daylight, held up the staff and customers at the scene, and looted the premises thoroughly, chaffing good-naturedly with frightened women while the hold-up was in progress.

Five men were later placed on trial in the British Columbia courts for the affair, Bagley and three others being sentenced to long prison terms with lashes. All of these men were paroled before the expiration of their terms, for good conduct, Bagley receiving his release in the Fall of last year.

London had the usual Communist demonstration with the usual absence of anything approaching violence. Paris saw a series of minor skirmishes between police and Communists, with the former holding the upper hand. A group of young radicals shot a policeman in Berlin, and the red flag flew over the university for a time, while Social Democrat and National Socialist students engaged in fisticuffs.

FESTIVITIES AT MOSCOW

Moscow was in the happy position of indulging in general festivities under state supervision and practically by state order. Rome was without the problem, inasmuch as May Day was abolished seven years ago and has not been celebrated since.

Constantinople and Vienna reported all quiet. Athens and some of the Balkan capitals were reasonably calm, although there were minor clashes with the authorities and the customary numerous arrests.

Scandinavia was orderly as usual. Geneva was disturbed by a parade of several hundred workers bearing red flags, but their behavior was circumspect. Brussels passed a placid day, although trouble had been expected. Warsaw's police precautions were so effective that the only untoward incident was the smashing of a few shop windows in the Jewish quarter.

NO TROUBLE IN VICTORIA

With some 500 people present, international May Day was marked here by a mass meeting of the unemployed at Central Park last night. The gathering assembled shortly before 7 o'clock, and two hours later the meeting broke up with the singing of two verses of the "Red Flag" and three cheers and a tiger for the "social revolution."

Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, Police Inspector John T. Boulton and three other officers of the police force were on hand, but there was no disorder.

Condemnation of the present capitalistic system and the method of unemployment relief were the main topics of the many speakers, who averred that the only way of improving conditions was by the solidarity of working people.

Russia's five-year plan, the gathering was told, is proving successful, while reports of "slave or conscript labor" were absolute falsehoods, according to one speaker.

CONDITION OF LITTLE CROWN PRINCE BETTER

BUCHAREST, May 1 (AP).—Two devoted women tonight were risking their lives by remaining at the bedside of little Crown Prince Michael, who is gravely ill with diphtheria.

One is his mother, Queen Helen, estranged wife of King Carol. She has steadfastly refused to leave the nine-year-old child. The other is an English governess whom the boy had hardly let out of his sight since the illness began.

The condition of the Prince had improved and royal physicians tonight expressed their conviction he would live.

Simla Tenders Great Welcome to Viceroy

SIMLA, India, May 1 (CP).—A great welcome awaited the Earl of Willingdon, Viceroy of India, and Lady Willingdon and their staff when they made public entry into Simla at midday.

Two battalions of the Bombay Grenadiers formed the guard of honor. Their Excellencies drove to the Viceregal Lodge in an open carriage, with the outriders and bodyguard, along a route lined by cheering crowds.

Seeks Mark For Flight To England

By ARTHUR BELL

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 2.—Lieut. Tommy Rose, British aviator who flew here recently from London, is lengthening his distance from Capetown today in an attempt to fly solo to England within four and a half days. He had taken off at 3 a.m. yesterday.

In his midget Hermes-Avian, a single-seater sports model in glowing red, Lieutenant Rose will fly for seventy-eight hours and rest only twenty, he says.

He will keep himself awake by jabbing himself in the thigh with a sail needle, he says.

Lieutenant Rose is aiming at the record of Lieut.-Commander Glen Kidston, another British aviator, who flew from London to Capetown in six days, himself lowering a previous record of eight and one-half days.

Premier Delivers May Day Address

WORKSOP, England, May 1 (CP).—May Day is the day of international peace and goodwill and solidarity, and if the British Labor Government had done nothing more than promote peace and goodwill in the world, its time in office would not have been spent in vain, declared Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in a May Day speech here.

The Prime Minister assailed Sir Oswald Mosley and his new party for intervention in yesterday's by-election in Ashton - Under - Lyne, when the Conservative recaptured the seat from Labor; declared Conservatives could have no more chance of solving the unemployment problem than Labor has, and again bitterly attacked the House of Lords. The question of the Upper House must be subjected to the mandate of the people, he declared.

Says C.P.R Will Meet Emergency

MONTREAL, May 1.—When the last spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway was driven home, just fifty years ago, it was still only a thin red line that stretched out across the Dominion, E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the railway said during a speech here tonight. But, he continued, like the thin red line in British history, it it stood firm in its battle for Canadian unity, Canadian trade and commerce, and Canadian progress, and its weapon of transportation filled the gap until financial reinforcements came up to put it in a less vulnerable position.

The railway had come through victorious over almost insurmountable difficulties in the past, and it would rise to meet the troubles of the present, Mr. Beatty said.

tion, from three years to five years. This, he said, would be in keeping with the immigration and naturalization laws. The other proposed change would abolish a regulation of the Civil Service Commission under which the three-year residence provision of the law was deemed unnecessary in certain instances, when applying for a position.

Opposition to the bill was voiced by Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence. It looked, said Colonel Ralston, like the "thin end of the wedge" against the preference given veterans. There had never been, under the Civil Service Act, any discrimination as between Canadian and Imperial veterans, and as an example of this principle he pointed to the equalization of pensions given by Canada to Canadian war pensioners and Imperial pensioners resident in the Dominion. "Is there a country in the world that gives a preference to Canadian soldiers?" Mr. Boulanger asked.

NO DISCRIMINATION

Colonel Ralston could not say there was, but the principle had been long recognized in Canada that there should be no discrimination.

Support for the bill came from Hon. Charles Stewart (Liberal, Edmonton West).

To say that Imperial veterans only resident in Canada three years should have the same preference as Canadian veterans was "going a considerable distance," Mr. Stewart said. The time had come when young Canadian civilians should have the same rights as men who had only come to Canada three years ago. He was, however, decidedly of the opinion that present preference for Canadian veterans should not be disturbed.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie (Liberal, Vancouver Centre), said the preferences now given were an expression of appreciation for those who had fought in the Allied cause in the war. It would be a mistake now to alter those preferences, particularly as the ranks of those who benefited were thinning out year by year.

The debate was adjourned by Grote Sterling (Conservative, Yale).

"Do you think your son will make a good business man?"
"I dunno. He's a rotten golfer."

RADICAL PARTY REORGANIZING

Argentine Political Group Has Good Chance of Electing Next President

By JOHN W. WHITE

BUENOS AIRES, May 1.—The return of former President Marcelo T. Alvear from Europe to reorganize the Radical party, which was overthrown by the revolution of September 6, and the efforts to deprive that party of its victory in the recent elections in the province of Buenos Aires, have given rise to an interesting political situation, which is moving swiftly, and is certain to produce important developments within the next few weeks.

Despite the great popular enthusiasm which accompanied the overthrow of President Hipolito Irigoyen and Radicalism by the revolution, and despite Provisional President Jose Francisio Uriburu's warning that the Radicals would not be permitted to direct the country's destinies, the Radicals again won the Buenos Aires elections by a surprisingly large vote. President Uriburu has agreed to accept this result, but he has canceled the arrangements for elections in other provinces.

Senor Alvear is making rapid progress in reconciling the two wings of the radical party, one of which blindly supported Dr. Irigoyen, while the other bitterly opposed him. Encouraged by the outcome of the Buenos Aires provincial elections, the Radicals are now confident that they can win the presidential and congressional elections at any time they take place. It is becoming apparent that the moment has passed when a combination of the antiradical parties might have been organized to defeat the Radicals at the polls.

The leaders of the Radical party say they are ready and determined to clean up the party and remove the undesirable elements which accompanied Dr. Irigoyen, but they refuse to do this under pressure from the provisional Government.

Although the Radicals won the elections in Buenos Aires Province with Honorio Pueyrredon, former ambassador to Washington, as their candidate for Governor, they are short of two electors in the electoral college, necessary for the majority required to elect him.

ISSUE STATEMENT

The Conservatives have issued a formal statement declaring they will enter into any combination with the Socialists in the electoral college to prevent Senor Pueyrredon's election. Their success in this direction would produce a political crisis which probably would necessitate intervention by the provisional Government. If this should materialize, Argentina's queen province would be governed by a Federal interventor.

Meanwhile it is daily becoming more apparent that the Radicals will elect the next president and it seems likely that Senor Pueyrredon will be the man.

BOY RUN OVER BY TWO TRAINS

WENDOVER, Utah, May 1 (AP).—Bob Gossett, eighteen, of 74 J Street, Tekoa, Wash., was run over by two trains, almost three and a half hours apart, here today, and both his legs were severed just above the ankles.

He fell beneath a freight train he tried to board about 1:30 a.m., and the wheels passed over his legs. Unable to drag himself from the rails, he lay suffering until he was run over by a second train shortly after 4 o'clock.

At 5:30 a.m. his groans were heard and help was summoned. Gossett regained consciousness and was able to tell of his night of horror. He was taken to a hospital at Tooele, Utah.

Millions of Feet Of Timber Ruined By Alberta Fires

EDMONTON, May 1.—With millions of feet of timber already destroyed by dozens of fires in the North, and the entire central portion of Alberta blanketed by a pall of smoke, the fire situation was described as the worst in years, tonight.

Continued drought renders fresh outbreaks likely, and this afternoon orders were issued by Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Minister of Resources, that fire permits issued to settlers were suspended.

Rangers and volunteers are putting up a strenuous but seemingly futile battle against the flames. Only heavy rains can relieve matters.

QUEBEC VILLAGE SWEPT BY FIRE

QUEBEC, May 1 (CP).—Four buildings, each containing a store on the ground floor and a home overhead, were destroyed, and two houses damaged, with a total loss of $40,000, when fire swept through a section of the village of St. Benoit Labre, in the County of Beauce, today.

No injuries were reported. The village is located ten miles from Beauceville.

Judge Caught In Shower of Glass in Car

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 1.—A mysterious accident occurred on Carnarvon Street, at the rear of the Provincial Courthouse, when Judge H. D. Ruggles left the Courthouse after hearing the appeal of Patrick Keogh in a liquor case.

The judge and A. M. Johnson, K.C., of the Attorney-General's Department, Victoria, had taken seats in the automobile of Major J. H. Johnston, Liquor Board inspector, when a window of the car was struck by either a stone or a bullet. A shower of glass is said to have fallen on the occupants.

City and Provincial Police investigated the occurrence, but were unable to determine the cause of it.

Japanese Robbed By Armed Bandits

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 1.—Two armed bandits invaded the home of Charles Sato, elderly Japanese, Auckland Street, tonight, robbed him of $52, and escaped in an automobile, police report.

According to the police statement, the pair are alleged to have parked an automobile at the front of the house and to have knocked at the rear door leading into the kitchen. The door was opened by Sato's son, who was forced back into the kitchen, where his father was seated. Both were searched, but the money was found on the elder Sato.

The bandits then ran out of the door and jumped in the automobile. Late tonight, police said they had found no trace of the car.

Murder Charges Filed

SOUTH BEND, Wash., May 1 (AP).—Charges of first degree murder were filed today by County Prosecuting Attorney John I. O'Phelan against Joe Aydt for the killing yesterday of Berry Everett, local superintendent of the Puget Sound Power & Light Company, after an alleged altercation over a water bill. The information charged Aydt with premeditation in his confessed shooting of the veteran water superintendent.

Rail Outlet Demanded

PEACE RIVER, May 1 (CP).—Definite demand for immediate action on construction of a rail outlet from the Peace River country to the Pacific Coast was contained in a resolution passed here last night at a mass meeting of delegates representing practically all boards of trade in the district. The resolution will be forwarded to the Dominion Government.

DERN PINS HOFFMAN

PENDLETON, Ore., May 1 (AP).—Ira Dern, Salt Lake City, defeated Jack Hoffman, New York, in two straight falls in a wrestling match, here, last night.

Dern won the first fall in nine minutes with an arm strangle and the second in a minute and thirty seconds with an airplane spin. He weighed 197 pounds; Hoffman 238.

Protective Foods

(Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association)

A properly balanced diet is needed by all, both old and young, in order that their bodies may be adequately nourished and that they may enjoy good health.

To secure a balanced diet, it is necessary to use a wide variety of foods. No normal person need worry about the lack of this or that particular substance in his diet if, in addition to using a wide variety of foods, he include regularly in his diet each day, milk and the leafy vegetables.

The name "protective foods" has been given very aptly to milk and the leafy vegetables because of their ability to make good the deficiencies of other foods. This may be expressed more directly by saying that the use of these protective foods makes certain that the diet is properly balanced and that the person using them will not suffer the loss of health and strength which occurs if the diet is not so balanced.

Milk is the one food for which we have no satisfactory substitute. It is the most important food for young children. It is not, however, a food whose use should be limited to children. It is valuable throughout life and, therefore, milk and milk products should form a regular part of the diet at all ages.

Milk is food containing about 12 per cent of solids. From one quart of milk is secured about half a cupful of butter fat, milk sugar and small amounts of different minerals.

We do not see these substances in milk as we use it, because they are dissolved. They are there, however, and when we take milk into our bodies, we receive all the nourishment which comes from such food elements.

Milk gives us the food substances which build up the body and repair worn-out tissues. Milk is rich in calcium (lime) and phosphorus. The green leafy vegetables are also a source of calcium. The use of milk assures the body of sufficient calcium which, if deficient early in life, results in the improper formation of the bones and teeth.

Vitamins are present in milk. Their importance in promoting growth and development in children and in keeping both children and adults well is recognized. Vitamins are essential in our diet, and we can safely rely upon milk and green leafy vegetables for a large proportion of the vitamins we require.

One of the simplest and most effective ways of protecting health is through the regular use of the "protective foods"—milk and the green leafy vegetables.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Two Killed When Train Hits Auto

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 1 (AP).—J. R. Powers, sixty, and his son, E. S. Powers, twenty-six, were killed near here tonight when their automobile was struck and demolished by the Sunset Limited, Southern Pacific passenger train. The accident occurred on a private crossing at Coyote, twelve miles south of here, where the Powers resided.

SCHEME TO SWINDLE WEALTHY BUSINESS MEN IS UNCOVERED

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 1 (AP).—Police and secret service officers today arrested seven men in connection with what they said was a scheme to swindle wealthy business men out of nearly $3,000,000.

Police said the ringleader in the scheme was Raymond E. Frost, thirty-two, of this city. They said that when Frost was arrested he had in his possession $10,000 in marked bills, which had been supplied for the purpose of trapping him.

The scheme, police said, was for a group of wealthy men to buy United States Liberty Bonds, with a par value of $3,000,000, at a 30 per cent discount. They declined to reveal the details of the alleged swindle.

The recent announcement that Mr. Epstein never attends art exhibitions has prompted one crusty old cynic to say that those who attend the famous sculptor's exhibition are in much the same position.

ADJOURNMENT IN THEFT CASE

Preliminary Hearing of the Charge Against C. McKenzie Will Continue Tuesday

Preliminary hearing of a charge of theft of an automobile against Charles McKenzie, of no fixed address, opened in the city police court yesterday morning. Considerable prosecution evidence was entered before the hearing was adjourned until Tuesday, in order that Gilbert Zarelli, who was with McKenzie at the time of the latter's arrest, and who is a prosecution witness, may be apprehended on a warrant. When called this morning he failed to appear, and could not be located by the police, who said he had left the city.

Margaret Sundin, 160 Gorge Road, the driver of the car, and Margaret Watson, 831 Esquimalt Road, her companion, described to the court how they had left the car outside Woolworth's store on Douglas Street Tuesday evening and walked across the street to the Royal Dairy. When they parked their car, they saw two men on the sidewalk, and they identified the accused as one of them.

They had just entered the dairy when Miss Sundin looked back and saw the car being driven away, the young women stated. Miss Sundin ran out and caught sight of the person at the wheel, who, she said, was McKenzie.

After giving the details of the case to a policeman, the young women met a friend who drove them around the downtown section and they found their car on Government Street, near the W. & J. Wilson store.

Joined by Inspector Boulton, they drove around the city and finally spoted McKenzie, who was with Zarelli, outside a taxi stand on Broad Street. Both had been drinking, they testified.

Identified by Miss Sundin as the man who had taken the car, McKenzie threw his head back and laughed for a few minutes, remarking: "This is funny," according to Inspector Boulton.

ASSAULT CASE TO BE HEARD MONDAY

Hearing of a charge of assault against Peter Carlson was set for Monday in the city police court yesterday. Leo Sester, the man who claims to have been assaulted, is in the Jubilee Hospital with a broken hip.

According to the story told by the injured man, he heard an argument while in bed Wednesday night. Getting out of his bed he went outside and told the men to keep quiet. One of them knocked him down and the broken hip resulted, Sester stated.

Carlson, who elected summary trial and pleaded not guilty, said: "I don't know anything about it."

TRUST FUNDS TO CARE FOR PLOTS

City Council to Pass By-Law for Perpetual Care of Graves in Cemetery

By reason of a special act passed at the recent session of the Provincial Legislature, municipalities are now permitted to accept moneys, invest them and use the income therefrom for the purpose of the perpetual maintenance of cemetery plots.

The City of Victoria has already taken advantage of the act and on next Monday afternoon the City Council will finally pass its cemetery maintenance fund by-law and immediately after passing civic officials will be empowered to receive payments.

CARE OF PLOTS

The by-law will apply specifically to Ross Bay Cemetery and the schedule of payments will be issued at an early date. Under the new scheme persons, by making a stated deposit according to the size of the plot in the cemetery, will have the plot or plots cared for in perpetuity. Work at grave plots will be under the direct supervision of the parks committee of the Council and competent men will be engaged as gardeners.

Alderman Thomas Hawkins, who has had charge of the details of the by-law for the parks committee, has spent the greater part of three months preparing lists of grave plots and noting what work is required at each. For many years Ross Bay Cemetery has been under criticism because, it was alleged, of its unkempt condition. When Mr. Hawkins took office as alderman he set about to seek a remedy and concluded that provincial legislation was the most fitting solution to the problem.

FUNDS IN TRUST

In respect to the fund, Mr. Hawkins points out that any moneys received by the corporation under the by-law will be held as trust funds, solely for the purpose for which they are received, and, in consideration of payment, the corporation will maintain, in a reasonably good condition, the grass portions of grave plots in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Alderman Hawkins is making a special appeal to the citizens, church organizations, service clubs, lodges and fraternal societies and ex-service associations to assist in the project which the city is undertaking. The schedule of fees is now being prepared and will be included in the special by-law when it receives its final reading at the regular meeting of the council on Monday.

READY TO START PACIFIC FLIGHT

"Kite Crazy Seiji" Will Take Off Within the Next Few Days From Japan

TOKIO, May 1 (AP).—Seiji Yoshiwara, twenty-eight-year-old Japanese, who plans to leave in a few days for a flight in easy stages from Tokio to San Francisco via the North Pacific islands, was known as "Kite Crazy Seiji," because of his fondness for anything to do with the air.

Yoshiwara will fly alone in a light Junkers plane, the undertaking being sponsored as a good will flight by the Hochi Shimbun, one of Tokio's leading dailies. He flew last Summer from Berlin to Tokio, also in a light airplane, making refueling stops at Moscow and other places.

The "Seagull," as the Japanese call him, is a small, youthful-looking chap of slight build and modest disposition.

The route he has chosen is extremely hazardous because of thick fog and mist which blanket its numerous islands many days in the year. A forced landing on the sea would entail almost certain death.

Where would the gangster be without publicity? To say that he needs it in his business seems paradoxical, and yet, how could he, by his own unimaginative efforts, have risen to the ascendant plane which headlong journalism has placed him? He is an enemy of society, but he need do nothing more antisocial than take a trip to Europe to get his name in dozens of papers and his picture in the news reels.—America.

Governor Signs Bill Repealing Alaska Dry Law

JUNEAU, Alaska, May 1 (AP).—A bill repealing the territorial bone dry law and a memorial appealing to Congress to approve the action were signed by Governor George Parks yesterday.

The repeal measure, passed by the House by a 10 to 5 vote and by a unanimous vote of the Senate, must be approved by the next session of Congress to change the statutes of prohibition in Alaska.

SEIZURE OF CUT WOOD SET ASIDE

Judge Lampman Renders Decision in Favor of Applicants to Remove Workmen's Lien

An application filed in County Court by solicitors for Wah Lee to set aside a seizure of slabwood, piled on Lee's premises at Langford, made by the sheriff under an execution issued pursuant to the Woodmen's Lien for Wages Act, was granted by Judge F. S. Lampman in a decision handed down yesterday. The application was heard last week and decision was reserved.

In granting the application to set aside the seizure, Judge Lampman says that "the application must succeed on the grounds that the wood is sawn timber sold to the applicant in the ordinary course of business."

CLAIMED PURCHASE

The case, which aroused considerable interest in legal circles, was the outcome of an action in County Court of Shimada versus Dan Sam and others. Shimada was engaged by Dan Sam and his associates to cut, into cordwood lengths, a quantity of long slabs left after the timber had been sawn by a portable saw mill on the Malahat. Shimada entered suit for payment for his work and consequently the wood delivered to Dan Sam and others was placed under seizure and included in the seizure was approximately 370 cords of the wood on the premises of Wah Lee at Langford, which Wah Lee claimed he bought and paid for.

The application was filed by H. A. Maclean, K.C., solicitor for Wah Lee and was opposed by J. L. Clearihue, solicitor for the creditors.

APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT OF CANADA IN $24,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the decision of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia was filed Friday in the case of Mrs. Marjorie Price and her six children against the British Columbia Motor Transportation, Ltd., and William Ledbury and Gray Line Motor Tours, Sightseeing and Taxi Co., Ltd., and Pacific Stages, Limited, for damages. The action is the outcome of an accident in Vancouver in which Andrew F. Price, husband of the appellant, was killed.

The original suit was for $40,000 damages and in the Supreme Court of British Columbia Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald awarded the plaintiffs $24,000. Appeal was entered by the defendants and was allowed by the Appeal Court with Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald dissenting. The Appeal Court decision was handed down on March 3, 1931.

Notice of the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was filed with the registrar yesterday by William T. Straith, of the law firm of Clearihue & Straith, solicitors for Mrs. Price. Maitland & Maitland are solicitors for the respondents.

MINISTER IS TO PLANT TREE

Hon. N. S. Lougheed Will Perform Ceremony—Junior Fire Wardens to Attend

Two hundred junior fire wardens of the Canadian Forestry Association will parade trough the downtown streets of Vancouver this morning at 9:30 o'clock. On arrival at Stanley Park, about 10:30 a.m., they will take part in the ceremony of the planting of "The B.C. Tree," at which Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Lands, will officiate.

A boys' bugle band, in charge of Major Bundy; the General Gordon Boys' Band, under A. W. Delamont, and the Sexsmith School Band, in charge of W. R. Johnson, will take part in the parade, and there will also be a float depicting outdoor life, a float showing forest industries, and cars from the British Columbia Forest Service and the Canadian Forestry Association. The parade is in charge of Charles Wilkinson, British Columbia manager of the Canadian Forestry Association.

Those who will attend include acting Mayor George Miller and members of the City Council, members of the Parks Board, School Board, Canada's Pacific Exhibition, Canadian Forestry Association, British Columbia Forest Service, and interested citizens. J. L. Noble, president of the British Columbia Branch of the Forestry Association, will introduce Hon. N. S. Lougheed.

The planting of "The British Columbia Tree" in soil which has been gathered from all parts of this province, is for the purpose of symbolizing the value of the forests and forest industries to every community in British Columbia, and the need of protecting timber stands from fire. The seedling which will be known from now on as "The B.C. Tree," was presented by the British Columbia Forest Service nursery at the Green Timbers on the Pacific Highway. A bronze plaque describing the tree's significance will be placed beside the newly-planted seedling.

Junior fire wardens, who will take part in the ceremony represent a group of 1,200 boy fire wardens organized throughout the province by the Canadian Forestry Association in an attempt to bring the people of British Columbia to a greater "forest consciousness." After the ceremony the boys will be served lunch in the park pavilion. The public, and particularly young boys, has been invited to attend the ceremony.

TWO OBTAIN RELIEF BY FALSE PRETENCES

VANCOUVER, May 1.—Two men, who both admitted having substantial bank accounts, appeared before Magistrate H. C. Shaw today and pleaded guilty to charges of obtaining assistance from the city relief department by false pretences.

Sentence was suspended on J. J. Hassan, who made restitution, while Peter Atkinson was remanded to Monday for sentence and given an opportunity to make restitution.

It was stated that Hassan, at the time he obtained relief to the amount of $82, had a bank account of $589, while Atkinson had an account of $536 when he was given aid to the amount of $72.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR BIG SEASON

Railway Official From Montreal Predicts Large Tourist Business for Coast

Based on reports from general agents of his company in principal cities throughout the United States, prospects for American tourist traffic to Canada this season are brighter than last year, C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, declared yesterday at Vancouver. On an annual inspection tour of the system, Mr. Foster conferred with Mainland officials of the C.P.R. on plans for handling the annual invasion of holiday-makers from the United States and abroad.

"General agents of the company throughout the United States report that they are receiving greater numbers of inquiries about Canada's tourist attractions, and this promises to lead to a considerable volume of traffic, apparently more than we hoped for," Mr. Foster said. "June and July appear particularly promising from a tourist standpoint."

A number of important conventions will be brought to the Pacific Coast by the Canadian Pacific this season, Mr. Foster intimated, notably the Canadian Manufacturers' Association meeting at the Empress Hotel here on June 1, 2 and 3.

Bookings for Alaska tours, particularly for the special cruises of the Ss. Alice, are showing gratifying prospects, he said, while considerable business is in sight for Banff, Lake Louise and other mountain resorts.

Mr. Foster is accompanied on his Western tour by H. F. Mathews, general manager of Canadian Pacific hotels, and S. Wertheim, general superintendent of sleeping and dining cars, Winnipeg.

CALIFORNIA YACHT FOR LOCAL WATERS

Writing to the secretary of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Major W. W. Rowson, Dr. P. Parker, of San Francisco, states that he will be leaving the California port on or about May 15 for Victoria, sailing his seventy-five-foot schooner yacht Idalia up the coast. This schooner participated in the last California to Tahiti race. Dr. Parker some time ago purchased a property at Osborne Bay, near Crofton, and he intends to spend the Summer there, making it his headquarters while he does some cruising in British Columbia waters. Dr. Parker is a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club and a prominent yachtsman of the South Coast.

FEDERAL WHEAT BOARD

The governments of the three Prairie Provinces are going to ask the Dominion Government to appoint a board to supervise or to control the marketing of wheat. If the Dominion Government can do anything which will solve the perplexing problem of the wheat growers there is little doubt that the Government will do it, and the people of all parts of Canada will pray that the Government may succeed in doing it. But if it is the purpose of the Prairie Governments to ask the Government to do something it cannot do within the limits of the provisions of the constitution of Canada, that is something the Government obviously cannot do.

If the provinces expect the Federal Government to create a board for the orderly marketing of grain, endowed with the powers assumed by the existing provincial wheat pools, powers which the courts have decided to be unconstitutional, that demand will be beyond the powers even of the Dominion Government, for the powers of the Dominion Government are also limited by the provisions of the B.N.A. Act.

The people who are asking for a Federal marketing board already have been told that both statute and precedent preclude any interference with the liberties of the subject or limitation of the rights of the individual in his property. But the people who are making the demands say that if the constitution is an obstacle to their purposes, the constitution can be amended. The constitution cannot be amended by any act of the Dominion Parliament. It can be amended only by an act of the Imperial Parliament, and, according to the latest agreement, with the consent of all the lesislatures of the nine provinces. It is true there has been persistent agitation in the West, fomented principally by The Manitoba Free Press, that Canada assume the right to amend her own constitution. That agitation has been resisted in the East, principally by governments of Quebec, upon the ground that the rights of minorities in Quebec are safeguarded by the provisions of the B.N.A. Act and that such rights might be menaced if Parliament were endowed with the power to change the provisions of the constitution. So that however favorable the present Federal Government may be to the cause of the grain growers, it has not the power to confer rights or privileges which are unconstitutional. No Parliament has the power to interpret laws, although unquestionably any Government has full power to make or amend laws.

A POLITICAL RENAISSANCE

Veteran public men sometimes lament the fact that the politicians are not what they used to be and that the people are not as deeply interested in politics as they used to be. The ancients tell us that in the old days the politicians were bitter in their political beliefs and stern in their political principles and that when two factions were joined in battle no quarter was given and no mercy asked. When we survey the political conditions of the present day, we are inclined to the conclusion that in political matters we are getting back to the bitterness and vindictiveness of the old days when Canada was young. We have lived through a considerable part of the political history of Canada and studied to some extent at least the part we have not experienced, and do not believe there ever was a political party defeat in Canada which was so bitterly resented as the defeat of the King Government. Not only are the male politicians bitterly resentful, but the female politicians—a comparatively new element—are even more bitterly resentful than the men.

One reason for this recent outcrop of the old bitterness we attribute to the fact that the defeat was so unexpected. Very few Liberals anticipated that an administration which appeared to be so strongly entrenched in power as the King Government could possibly be defeated by a party led by Mr. Bennett. The shock was so unexpected and so tremendous that although almost a year has passed since the day of the tragedy, the bitter partizans have not recovered from it yet. Sometimes we think that the leader of the new opposition and most of his followers believe the affair to be a hideous dream and that they will all awake some morning to rejoice in the reality.

The Liberals appear to attribute their calamity principally to two persons, the Prime Minister and the late Premier of Ontario, now High Commissioner in London. They blame Quebec to a certain extent, for Quebec played an unexpected part in the drama; but all their rancor is directed against Mr. Bennett and Mr. Ferguson. As an example of the state of mind of the ladies of the opposition party, consider the case of a Women's Liberal Association of Ontario which held a meeting and passed a resolution demanding that the new High Commissioner, who appears to be discharging his important duties with characteristic vigor and great acceptance, be either gagged or recalled. This curious and impertinent motion was not passed unanimously, and there was trouble in the family. Some of the members resigned from the association. The political mantle of the fathers has fallen upon the shoulders of the daughters.

NATIONAL TROUBLES

Nations, like individuals, occasionally have their family troubles. There is internal trouble brewing or active in many of the nations of the world today. There is even danger that in some of the nations the trouble which is brewing may result in disruption of the national families. Some of the states of Australia and some sections of some of the states are talking about secession. Which is a deplorable state of affairs, for the national family of the Southern Commonwealth is so young and began life only a few years ago under what appeared to be such favorable conditions. There is an old saying that a house which is divided against itself cannot stand. Adversity has created the state of affairs which has produced what appears to be a crisis in Australia. When prosperity reigns and everybody is content, if not actually happy, there is never any agitation for secession.

There have been murmurings of discontent in some parts of Canada, too. There has even been a voice or two raised in advocacy of secession; but nobody has paid much attention to the agitations of the secessionists. Some of the wheat producers of the western part of our country, who were so prosperous a year or two ago, are undergoing privations today, owing, to some extent at least, to their own errors of judgment, possibly to unwise speculations. We are all loth to admit that we have made mistakes, and we are nearly all apt to attribute our misfortunes to the actions of other people. The people of the West maintain, we believe unjustly, that they have not been well treated by the people of the East.

So in the day of their adversity a few of the more unreasonable Western agitators have warned the people of the East that if Canada does not adopt a policy of Free Trade the nation will be broken up—that sections of the West will secede and set up national establishments of their own. Possibly when the day of an economic millenium dawns, when all the world recants and adopts systems of free trade, we shall have free trade in Canada; but not within the lifetime of the present generation shall we have free trade in Canada. The modern economic trend is altogether in a different direction. There are unmistakable signs in the political heavens that before the passage of any considerable length of time the last free trade nation in the world will adopt a system of protection.

There is an unfortunate delusion in the West, a delusion fostered by newspapers like The Manitoba Free Press for political purposes, that the wealth of the Western plains has been exploited by capitalists of the East for their own selfish purposes. As a matter of fact it was the capital of the East applied to the development of the West which created the period of prosperity that preceded the present unfortunate depression. The confirmed grouch of The Free Press and the element of the population it has been misleading has been directed against the existing political, economic and financial order—against the railways, the banks and all established institutions. It was the East which built the railways which have united Canada in a common business bond from coast to coast. But the agitators of the West have attributed nearly all their temporary difficulties to the railways, the banks and the politicians. The West demanded relief from the alleged exactions of the existing railway systems by the construction of another railway system with its terminus on Hudson Bay. That railway has been built at heavy cost to all the taxpayers of Canada, the vast majority of whom live in the East. It is a branch of the Canadian National Railway system and was built in defiance of the advice of competent engineers. But the West demanded it, and the politicians gave it to them. The West demanded an ocean port, and it has got it. We are not going to join the company of sceptics who predict that an ocean port which is only open to navigation for a very few months in the year will not be much of a factor in the transport of grain from the prairies to the markets of the world. On the contrary, we trust that all the sanguine anticipations of those who demanded the construction of the road may be more than realized. For the following table giving the cost to date of the construction of the railway and comment thereon we are indebted to The Ottawa Journal:

Cost of the road up to February 28, 1931	$30,997,136.44
Cost of Port Nelson terminals	6,240,200.86
Cost of Churchill terminals	7,256,846.51
Cost of Hudson Strait expedition	1,323,809.51
Cost of radio direction finding work	349,678.23
Total cost to date	$46,167,671.55

Forty-six millions gone—and the end not yet! Even this year, when economy is vital, and when the Government is harassed to make ends meet, there is $6,000,000 more in the estimates for this craziness.

THE DOMINIONS' POLICY

"The principle set down by the Dominions seems to be misinterpreted by the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of the Dominions. The policy of 'Canada first,' formulated by Premier Bennett, does not in any way exclude a concerted plan of action on the part of the overseas Dominions for the development of inter-Imperial commerce. The policy of the Dominions implies that each constituent member of the Empire, in ranking its own interests first, will next sustain and promote the interests of the rest of the Empire, in preference to those of foreign countries. Mr. Thomas, however, seems to have interpreted the policy of the Dominions as being 'each for itself.' Manifestly, this is a misinterpretation." —La Patrie.

BOW IN THE HEAVENS

Sir,—News of the decision arrived at by the business men of Lethbridge is good news. The present depression can only be lifted by a change of heart. Cause and effect govern everything, and the acknowledgment of Divinity as the only true source of prosperity is a step in the right direction. The personality is always too apt to take the credit, and conceit and self-seeking leads to downfall of the individual as well as the nation or the whole race.

A changed mental attitude, such as outlined in this manifesto, if carried out nation-wide in all sincerity and good faith, would inevitably bring about speedy improvement in more ways than one.

A. FLEISCHER.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

QUITTING TIME

How does it seem at the end of day
To the man who digs through the sand and clay,
To the man whose pick strikes the stubborn rock
From early morning till 5 o'clock?

When the whistle blows and the gang is done
After long hours in the wind and sun,
After the sweat and toil and grime,
How does life seem at quitting time?

Oh, it must be good, when his strength is spent,
His back is weary, his shoulders bent,
To trudge away to a waiting wife
And all of the other side of life!

The other side that spells peace and rest
And a good hot meal in his cosy nest,
With his paper to read and his babe on his knee
For the man whom 5 o'clock sets free!

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 13.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Southern drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Mose was taking examination for letter carrier. The examiner asked him the question, "What is the distance from the earth to the sun?"

"Lawsy me!" exclaimed Mose. "If you'se gwine to put me on that route Ah's resignin' right now!"

SOUND AUCTION and CONTRACT
by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD
The World's Greatest Authority

Bidding and Play Must Go Hand in Hand

Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	2 ♠	4 ♠
West	Pass	Pass
North	3 ♠	Pass
East	Pass	Pass

Auction Bidding

	1st Rd.
South	1 ♠
West	Pass
North	Pass
East	Pass

One of the charms of Contract is that the bidding must be progressive as well as sound. In the above deal, at Auction, the principal interest would be in the play of the hand, for there could be no doubt but that South should play the hand with Spades as Trumps. At Contract, where we have to bid for game in order to score it, the element of bidding is also involved. Should South open the bidding with either one or three Spades, North would in reality have no assist and the hand would be played at a non-game-going declaration. At either Contract or Auction, we must resort to good play in order to go game. The situation is not difficult, yet there are very many players who will resort to a guess as to which way to take the finesse in the Heart suit, though a very little thought would show that in reality no guess whatever is necessary. It is again a question of elimination or strip and end play.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Contract—South, with five quick tricks and plus values in his hand, opens the bidding with two Spades. West passes and North, having four Spades in his hand, the King of Hearts, a doubleton Club and plus values and high intermediate cards, bids three Spades. He would have had no raise on a bid of one or three Spades. East passes and South bids four Spades, concluding the bidding.

Auction—Having a strong five card suit, South has no desire to invite a denial from his partner and accordingly opens the bidding with one Spade instead of two as at Contract. This concludes the bidding.

THE PLAY

West opens the Jack of Clubs and the Dummy going down, Declarer can see that he should lose two Diamonds. As to the Spades, he may or may not lose a trick, depending upon the adverse Trump situation. Since he has no finesse, this is entirely without his control.

In the Heart suit, if he could definitely locate the Queen of Hearts, he loses no trick in that suit, but this involves a guess. A little study of the hand reveals the fact that no guess is necessary. He leads two rounds of Spades and finds that West still has the Queen, which must make. By leading two more rounds of Clubs, he can discard a small Diamond in Dummy. He can throw the adversaries in the lead either with the Diamond or a small Spade.

Adversaries will then take the Queen of Spades and the two high Diamonds, after which the adversary in the lead must lead a Club, a Diamond or a Heart.

If an adversary leads either of the first two, Declarer may discard his nine of Hearts and trump in Dummy. If an adversary leads a Heart, then a finesse in that suit is unnecessary.

French Art Hopeless Says Shaw

By CAMILLE LEMERCIER
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PARIS, May 1.—"French art is hopeless," was George Bernard Shaw's definite decision in the course of a one-minute interview with Paris journalists.

Maybe. But if the future of French art looks gloomy, its present seems very prosperous—at least from a quantitative viewpoint.

No less than 7,000 paintings, covering about one square mile, perhaps more, along the endless galleries of the huge Grand Palais in the Champs Elysees, in a two-month exhibition are offered for the admiration of courageous art lovers in the biggest canvas fair in the world.

President Gaston Doumergue who, during his seven years' term, has won justified popularity for his particular aptitude in keeping smiling even on the most unfortunate occasions, inaugurated three "salons," which opened their doors to the public yesterday.

These are the "Salon of French Artists," whose first exhibition took place in 1673; that of the "National Society," which some thirty years ago tried to represent modern tendencies in art, and the "Colonial Salon," devoted to aspects of life overseas. The three salons represent academic tendencies and are deliberately hoycotted by the best-known artists of the modern "Paris School."

Nevertheless the salon openings still mark the beginning of the Paris Spring season, and are a big social event. During the first day of the exhibition a crowd of the smartest women and well-to-do gentlemen transform the Grand Palais into a sort of uncomfortable branch of the leading Paris clubs. Nobody cares for pictures and sculptures except artists and their models—"executors and their victims," as they are maliciously called. But on the subsequent days the salons and galleries become quiet and offer an excellent opportunity to visitors in search of privacy.

HEROIC WORK OF WIFE SAVES MAN

Woman Pulls Injured Husband From Lake and Paddles Twenty Miles for Aid

FORT FRANCES, Ont., May 1.—Accidentally shot in the shoulder when his gun exploded as he sat in his canoe, Archie McGinnis, Indian trapper of Koochiching Reserve, is going to live because his slim little wife did a he-man job for six hours getting Archie to where he could be treated.

When he was shot, McGinnis fell from his canoe into Captain Cuttle Lake. His wife pulled him back into the easily-capsized craft.

Then she paddled back over twenty miles to Calders' Fishery with her wounded husband and turned him over to a fisherman, who whirled him to Fort Frances in a high-powered motor boat.

It took little Mrs. McGinnis six hours to paddle her husband to safety. But Archie is going to recover, according to his attendants.

PIONEER LADY VISITS CITY

Mrs. Cawston Guest of Hon. W. A. and Mrs. McKenzie on Way From California

Mrs. Annie Cawston, whose residence in this province since 1885 classifies her as a pioneer of the interior section of the country, has been a visitor in the city this week. After spending a few days with Hon. W. A. and Mrs. McKenzie she left yesterday afternoon for her home in Cawston.

When Mrs. Cawston came to the province it was as the bride of her late husband, R. L. Cawston. The marriage had taken place at Stratford, Ont., and the coming to the West in those days meant plunging into a somewhat primitive manner of living. The C.P.R. was not then completed through British Columbia, and the method of reaching the ranching country where Cawston is now located was by way of Spokane.

At that point the newly-wedded party left the train and made the remainder of the journey to their new home, in large part, over trails on horseback; a seven days' trip. Mrs. Cawston was, fortunately, not new to the saddle, having learned to ride in her former home in Ontario. She was destined to put in many years with horseback riding the main method of locomotion.

RANCHING LIFE

Her husband had been in that country for some years previous to his marriage. He acquired the Richter cattle ranch, known commonly as the R. Ranch. Here Mr. and Mrs. Cawston continued to live until changing conditions resulted in the breaking up of the ranch and the subdivision of the land into fruit ranches. On returning to her home now Mrs. Cawston can leave the train on the Kettle Valley line right on the ranch where formerly the cattle fattened for the market.

For years the only method of reaching the coast was on horseback, over trails through the Hope Mountains to the town of Hope, where the steamers were met. In those days Victoria played a much more important part in the life of the whole of the province than it does today. It was practically the only commercial centre, and the leading market for the remainder of the province.

The Cawston Ranch had among its consumers in the early days, the British Columbia Market, operating as meat suppliers in this city. The fat stock was driven over the trails to Hope, which required about three days' time, and there loaded on the boat for Victoria, where it was held pending slaughter.

Mrs. Cawston, when speaking of these days, recalled the fact that the rich pasture lands held by her husband produced the best of stock. Regular shipments were driven over the mountains to Hope all Summer long.

EARLY CONDITIONS

For some time after moving onto the ranch the mails reached there once a month. She says The Colonist was read constantly in the homes as the means of keeping in touch with the outside world.

There were, however, compensations in connection with the life lived in those days. While the facilities for enjoyment, now felt to be essential to everyday life, were lacking, the people enjoyed themselves nevertheless, and social events, while not quite as frequent, evidently lasted longer when they did arrive. The first Christmas after arrival in the country, Mrs. Cawston said, was spent by herself and her husband as the guests of Judge Haynes, who dispensed justice, with headquarters in Osoyoos. They were guests of the judge in his home from December 19 until December 29.

Mrs. Cawston, during the time of the smallpox outbreak here in 1887, was an enforced visitor to the city for several weeks. She was in Victoria when the quarantine was established and was debarred from leaving until it was lifted.

For the past three years and a half she has been in Southern California visiting friends.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If May 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to noon, from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7:30 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. There is only one danger period, from 4:30 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

May 2 holds out, according to the signs, great hope for those engaged in exploration or inventive and research work. Efforts that have extended over a long period will be suddenly and unexpectedly rewarded. Differences amongst friends will arise after sunset unless the emergency brake is applied.

Children born on this May 2 will lead rather prosiac lives. They will be careful, methodical, and endowed with very little initiative or originality, and will always seek the path of least resistance. They will be tender-hearted, and, as a result, others will impose upon them.

Born on May 2, you do a good many things well, but are prompted to do them, not because the work itself gives you any particular satisfaction, but because of the anticipated praise of your efforts from others. Adulation is unction to your soul, and when it is not forthcoming, you feel hurt, and sulk. To see a rival receive honors that, in your exaggerated sense of self-importance, should accrue to you, arouses within you childish and hateful feelings. Though, too, you try to disguise them, you never succeed; everyone can read your thoughts.

In sports you are quite a "dab," but, being a poor loser, your sportsmanship is spoiled. This same spirit animates all your actions. You are envious of everyone's success, and rather rejoice over their failures. You can and do work hard. When failure or disappointment comes, you "quit" however, and turn to something else. This, of course, does not spell success. If you could work for your own satisfaction, or for the glory of achievement, and forget about the limelight, you would achieve much, as your brain is an active one and your mind is quite keen. Your love nature demands much, and your home life will only be happy if your mate accepts responsibility for all shortcomings, and awards you the kudos for everything that goes well.

Bermuda Assembly Defeats Plan to Give Women Vote

The Opposition gave no reason for its rejection and remained silent throughout the session.

Royal City Inquest Adjourned to Monday

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 1 (CP).—The inquest into the death of Audrey N. Goss, Duke of Connaught High School student, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident at Queens Avenue and Fourth Street on April 23, was adjourned unexpectedly in city police court today.

Adam S. Johnston, counsel for George E. Neilson, charged with manslaughter in connection with the accident, asked for the adjournment until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, which was granted. J. G. Millechampt, Vancouver, who was driving the other car in the crash, was represented by Harry J. Sullivan.

Governor Unable to Accede to Petition

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 1 (CP).—Sir John Middleton, Governor of Newfoundland, has informed E. A. Bowring, chairman of a public meeting which requested a royal commission to investigate the financial affairs of the Island, that he is unable to accede to the petition. The Governor quotes from the Consolidated Statutes in indicating that the procedure necessary for the appointment of a commission had not been followed.

The mass meeting, which, in resolution, characterized public expenditure as "unjustifiable waste of public money in recent years," was regarded by the Government of Sir Richard Squires as a political move.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of May 2, 1881)

News from the sealers indicates that Greenwood's schooner from this port, the Juanita, took nearly 500 seals in two days and a half. The American schooner Ariel took 131 seals in one day. The other schooners caught nothing to speak of; but as the weather is moderating it is thought that better luck will attend their efforts shortly.

The United States revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott, Captain Sheddar, arrived yesterday from Port Townsend. She left this morning for Beechy Bay, from which soundings for the new cable will be taken across to Freshwater Bay, on the opposite shore, and the character of the bottom ascertained. The cutter will get back to this port this evening and remain until tomorrow afternoon.

The Kingston election for the Ontario House resulted in the return of the reform candidate. A Conservative held the seat previously.

Last evening there were fifteen steamers in this port, twelve or thirteen of them of considerable size. Five arrived yesterday and four or five left again last night and this morning.

A petition to the Ottawa Government for a daily mail service will be circulated throughout the province. Everyone should sign it. The cost would be slight and the benefit conferred very great.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY SUCCESS

Hearty Applause Greets Players in "Master Skylark," Excellently Staged

SECOND PERFORMANCE TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

As the curtain fell on the first performance of the Victoria High School matriculation play last night it climaxed one of the most successful evenings in the history of the institution. The production, "Master Skylark," by Edgar White Burril, is a five-act play of the Elizabethan period. A capacity house greeted the players in the school auditorium. The performance will be repeated again this evening.

Music was rendered by the school orchestra under the direction of Harold Taylor, at the intervals.

The initial act is a country lane outside Attwood's cottage at Stratford-on-Avon. It introduces young Nicholas Attwood, a young country lad, who begs his father to allow him to see the Lord Admiral's players who are visiting the village. When refused the opportunity, he resolves to leave home and follow the company of actors. This he does and is led away by Gaston Carew, leader of the company of actors. Carew is greatly attracted to the young schoolboy. He hears the boy sing and declares he has the best voice in all England.

SINGS FOR THE QUEEN

Carew introduces the boy singer to the company. Nick sings for them and they are convinced he has a fine voice. He is afraid his mother is worrying about him and when he asks permission to leave he finds he is a captive of the company. He is taken by the company to London, where he sings for the Queen. She compliments him upon his voice and asks if he has any wishes. He asks only to be allowed to return home to his mother. After pleading with the boy to stay, she grants his wish. Will Shakespeare and Ben Jonson, friends of Nick's mother, Dame Margaret Attwood, help to return the boy safely and the story ends happily.

The part of Nick Attwood, the young country schoolboy who is lured away by the Lord Admiral's players, is skilfully portrayed by William Ostler, who acts and sings with all the talent of an experienced player. Russell Twining as Gaston Carew took a leading part in the production. He was dressed in a brilliant costume of the Lord Admiral's players, and showed good technique. Horace Peck was highly applauded by the audience for the manner in which he enacted the part of the villain.

The throne room of Greenwich Palace, London, where Nicholas Attwood sang for Queen Elizabeth was a pretty set with the attendants dressed in gaudy colors and the queen in a costume of purple and gold. It was in this scene that Will Shakespeare and Ben Jonson, played by Norman Manson and Gordon Thorpe respectively, were introduced.

At the conclusion of each act the applause was generous and well deserved as the play was one of the best yet staged at the Victoria High School. Miss Ella Cameron, director of the play, deserves a great deal of praise for the way in which it was staged.

ROSENBLOOM LOSES VERDICT TO MANLEY

DENVER, May 1 (AP).—George Manley, Denver light-heavyweight, won the referee's verdict last night from Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, the titleholder, in a sensational ten-round fight.

With the judges failing to agree, Referee Dan Darnell voted for the Denver battler, basing his verdict on Manley's aggressiveness and more solid punching. Rosenbloom's title was not at stake, as he came in at 180 pounds, with Manley scaling 176.

GRASS-EATING PESTS HUNTED

Lake Hill Tennis Lawn Attacked by Small Beetle With Big Appetite

Eating grass roots with persistence worthy of higher motives, a small beetle, before believed harmless, is causing some concern at Lake Hill, where it, with many of its brethren, has wrought extensive damage to a tennis court on the property of a well-known local businessman.

Naively shy of the efforts of experts to observe its habits, the grass-eating beetle shuns human companionship, but an everlasting appetite is making the breed daring, with the result that attention has been called to the damage resulting to nicely kept lawns.

Entomologists of the Department of Agriculture yesterday confirmed the fact that the beetles, that heretofore have lived comparatively blameless lives, have turned suddenly to destruction of lawns on a wholesale scale.

Reports in the hands of the department, referring to a similar investigation at Powell River a few years ago, mention the possibility of the beetles having come in the first place from Japan. Whether that is so or not, their grass-eating habits have now drawn the ire of men upon them.

Discussing the incident yesterday, William Downes, provincial entomologist, stated the attack of the beetles had only just been reported, and that steps were being taken to see if a control can be found to put an end to the pest.

ANNUAL MEETING ST. GEORGE MEN

Victoria Branch Hears Reports of Year's Work and Plans Activities for Future

The annual meeting of the Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, was held Thursday evening at the residence of W. G. Barnes, 355 Wolseley Street.

Alfred Hallam presented a report covering the activities of the organization during the past year, which showed that important work of a social service character had been performed. Emphasis was placed on the regular and wholehearted service rendered by the women's auxiliary, the details of which were presented in a full report by Mrs. G. H. Moody, secretary of the auxiliary. A vote of thanks was extended to the Men's Guild of Christ Church Cathedral for the lunch served on St. George's Day and in which members of the society participated.

REVIEWS WORK

The president, Harry Langley, covered in detail the work which had been accomplished during his administration of the past two years and appealed to members to familiarize themselves with the history of the movement. He suggested that work of an educational character should be undertaken to acquaint themselves, and the public generally, with the traditions which gather around the personality of St. George and a study of the works of Shakespeare. The president also referred to the great encouragement given to the movement by the press, especially on St. George's Day, in recalling the happy memories and stirring deeds which that day brings to mind, also the prominence which is now given to St. George's Day in the public schools. Reference was also made to the fine decorations and special menu given by the Hudson's Bay Company in its dining-room on St. George's Day.

Votes of thanks were heartily endorsed to the various officers of the society, who have so loyally given their support, and before the meeting adjourned, a resolution was adopted calling for a special general meeting to be held early in September, at which all those who are interested in the aims and objects of the movement would be invited to attend. The meeting concluded with the serving of a light supper, through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barnes. The election of officers was deferred until the special general meeting to be held in September.

Celebrates 261st Birthday

Hudson's Bay Company Received Royal Charter of Incorporation May 2, 1670—Looks Forward to Future With Optimism and Confidence

Sponsored by a Prince and signed by a King—King Charles the Second of England—a royal charter of incorporation was granted to the Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay on this day, May 2, two hundred and sixty-one years ago—thus bringing into existence a trading organization through whose commercial activities and Empire interests the Dominion of Canada was made possible.

In all its stores from Winnipeg to Victoria the Hudson's Bay Company is today celebrating its 261st birthday. A. J. Watson, manager of the Victoria store, expressed in an interview with a Colonist representative the company's confidence in the future and declared that the company did not consider there was the slightest room for pessimism among the Canadian people, or more particularly among those who were so fortunate as to be domiciled in this great Province of British Columbia, of which Vancouver Island was so important a part.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Mr. Watson said that if we would only visualize for a moment the truly remarkable assets of this province and particularly of Vancouver Island we could not help but look ahead with the utmost confidence and faith in the prosperity of Victoria. Enumerating just a few of the things to which we could pin our faith, Mr. Watson quoted the following:

1. Lumber.—Billions of feet of the finest softwood timber in the world—in fact, the stand of timber within the Province of British Columbia is considered the largest and finest in the world.

2. Precious Metals.—Our mountains contain countless millions of dollars in the form of gold, copper, silver, zinc, lead and other valuable deposits. Let us review the increase of production during the last ten years and visualize, if we can, the possibilities of the next ten years.

Gold (ozs.)	131,128	163,100
Silver (ozs.)	3,377,849	11,800,000
Copper (lbs.)	44,887,676	92,000,000
Lead (lbs.)	39,331,218	320,000,000
Zinc (lbs.)	47,208,268	250,000,000

3. Coal.—With the development of scientific research in regard to coal burning we believe the coal deposits of British Columbia, and particularly Vancouver Island, will be worth many more millions than the present-day valuation.

4. Fish.—The waters around our coast are teeming with fish which can be harvested annually for centuries and are worth many millions a year.

5. Stockraising and Agricultural Pursuits.—These have possibilities beyond the imagination of the present generation.

6. Power.—The possibilities for hydro development for industrial purposes are unlimited and merely await capital with the bright vision to harness it.

7. Manufacturing Industries.—The possibilities of industry, so often belittled, will prove a decided factor in the development and prosperity of Vancouver Island with its wonderful climate, soft water and general superior advantages for the worker. With the advent of the Orient into the world's markets there is every reason why Vancouver Island should develop its manufacturing industry. On Vancouver Island labor turnover, which is one of the costs of manufacture, would, we predict, be the lowest in the world. Victoria is the first and last port of call between the British Empire and that huge Oriental population which, sooner or later, will have a tremendous spending power. Billions of dollars will ebb and flow between these Oriental countries and this great Province of British Columbia. Victoria is in the direct path of this flow of wealth. Are we to let it pass by?

8. Education.—As an educational centre Victoria and Vancouver Island is unique—an environment of beauty with healthy climate—so necessary during the development stage of childhood and adolescence. Sports may be enjoyed outdoors the year round. Statistics prove Victoria to be one of the healthiest spots in the world. We should boost Victoria for education.

9. Tourist Playground.—It has been truly said that Vancouver Island is the ideal playground of the North American continent. There are no extremes of temperature—average Summer temperature 61 degrees, average Winter temperature 42 degrees. Hunting, big game or small, fishing, mountain climbing, motoring, golf the year round, tennis, in fact, everything provided by man or Nature is here for the travelers' enjoyment. Many millions a year are spent by tourists. We should all get behind the Publicity Bureau and help them to tell the world about our great playground.

10. Our People.—The greatest asset of all is the people within our borders. Thousands of young people are passing through our high schools and universities every year and are emerging with greater self-confidence and a broader outlook on life than any youth of past generations. Surely these young men and women are worth keeping within our own borders! If so, we must put our shoulders to the wheel and create industry so that there shall be no uncertainty about their future.

"In view of the foregoing ten points, there is surely no room for pessimism. We must look up, look out, and look ahead," said Mr. Watson.

FRA DIAVOLO MUCH PRAISED

Auber's Tuneful Opera Delights Large Audience at Royal Victoria Theatre

PRINCIPALS SHOW CONSPICUOUS ART

There is a possibility that Victoria may yet become a competitor of Hollywood in the matter of picture production. This, however, lies in the lap of the future. Meantime opera is actually being produced here, and how thoroughly successful was re-emphasized last night when, for the second time within less than two months, the Royal Victoria Theatre witnessed a delightful production presented entirely by local talent.

This time it was Auber's "Fra Diavolo." A splendid entertainment it proved to be, with bright and tuneful music and amusing situations which held the attention of the audience closely throughout. In fact, it closely rivals its very successful predecessor, "Boccoccio," in popular favor, judging by the enthusiastic applause which greeted the performance last night. It will be repeated again tonight.

Very little new vocal and dramatic talent has been added to the company since the previous production, but a realignment of the secondary principals and two supplementary male soloists gave quite a fresh interest to the work. Again Fraser Lister appears in the title role of "Fra Diavolo," and again he shows a fine grasp of the part, playing and singing with imagination, spirit, and humor. Again to Gwendolyn Goodman falls the principal lady's part, closely seconded by Dorothy Parsons. The former as "Zerlina," has some lovely numbers, and proved herself again an accomplished artist both in the histrionic and vocal sense. She gave a charming and artless character to the part of Matteo's daughter in the second act, which might easily have been spoiled by overacting or burlesque on the part of the one acting the role. Miss Parsons also gave a portrayal worthy of special praise, showing a fine conception of the role of "Lady Pamela Allcash," divided between her feminine temerities and her coquettish inclinations.

NEW VOICES

Playing and singing opposite Gwendolyn Goodman was Frank Partridge, who, as "Lorenzo," captain of the carbineers, who take such an active part in tracking down "Fra Diavolo" and his brigands. To Lorenbo fall some of the loveliest airs of the opera, and the character is an important one, made the more impressive by the Napoleon-like demeanor which it has been given in this instance. Arthur Partridge, who takes the part of the amiable inn-keeper, Matteo (who is also Zerlina's father), has a good conception of his part, and sang his few brief solo parts very pleasingly.

Richard Felton and Harry Johns were paired for the two purely burlesque characters in the opera, Beppo and Giacomo, who are part of Fra Diavolo's band of brigands. Two more disreputable looking characters it is impossible to conceive, and their by-play throughout the evening furnished a never-ceasing source of fun to the audience. Their antics reached the peak during the last act, when they produced a burlesque of Zerlina's pretty little retiring scene of the second act, Dr. Felton's falsetto sung to the deep bass of Dr. Johns, with a large serving tray for mirror, provoking much laughter. The lighting in the "retiring scene" above mentioned seemed a little too garish, and gave an unconvincing effect. Asides are legitimate theatrical devices, but the imagination of the audience need not be unnecessarily strained by making too obvious things which the actors on the stage are not supposed to be able to see.

OTHER PARTS

Minor parts among the principals were taken by Emily McConnan, as maid to Lady Allcash; Jean McDonald, as the maid at the inn; P. Ridgeley, as the farmer bridegroom, and Frank Smedley, as the serving man at the inn.

The choruses were animated, and never at any time suffered from the stiffness which is a popular failing of amateur companies. Their singing had abundant energy and spirit, and the scenes in which they appeared had real meaning, with significant movement and well-directed impulses.

Again the details of production merit all praise. Mme. de Turczynowicz, in the role of director and conductor, showed complete authority over her company, and kept the choruses and orchestra together splendidly. Her energy and power to direct and control the scattered elements of such a production merits all praise. Gertrude Warn, as director of the orchestra, and Ted Holloway, as chorus master, also had very significant parts which they carried out well.

Both in this opera and in "Boccaccio" the audiences have been greatly struck with the beautiful staging and costuming. Last night's scenery showed the artist's hand again, the first and last acts being set against a background of enchanting mountains in which the brigands were supposed to conceal themselves, while in the left foreground was the eighteenth century inn to which the English Lord and Lady Allcash came after being set upon by the bandits. The second act very appropriately carried out the details of the bedroom required by the opera. The dressing of the opera was extremely pleasing, carried out in the gay Italian manner, with great effectiveness and fidelity of detail.

Others engaged in the actual preparation of the opera were Mrs. J. O. Cameron, as publicity manager; and the committees, which were as follows: Finance, Count J. de Suzannet, James Hunter, James Fletcher and W. B. Lanigan; properties and scenery, S. Oliver, L. Ogilvie; costumes, Miss K. Agnew, Mrs. C. E. Wilson and Miss Ogilvie, and theatre, J. Robertson and J. McGrath.

Suffered With Pains In The Back

Relieved By Taking Dodd's Kidney Pills

"For two years I suffered with pains in my back," writes Mrs. Fred Casey, 3 Douglas Lane, Amherst, N.S. "I tried different remedies but none seemed to do me any good. After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills the pain left me and I always keep them in the house now in case the pain may come back."

Many men and women suffer periodically with backache, and, as middle age approaches, the pain increases in severity.

Rest may give temporary relief, but Dodd's Kidney Pills do much more than this. They strengthen the weak kidneys and remove the cause of the pain.

Y.M.C.A. HOLDS BIG GYMBOREE

A highly-successful and well-received gymboree was given at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night before a packed house. The programme included various exhibitions of gymnasium team work and individual numbers and orchestral selections, as well as an exhibition wrestling match.

The wrestling bout, between Fred Loeffler and L. Moore was an excellent exhibition and received a big hand from the audience. The result was a draw.

Class marching and games, under the direction of Harry Robson, were well performed by the participants. The work was done to music, and the members acted as a unit in perfect rhythm with the piano.

The next event was an exhibition of high bar work by Allan Stewart. Stewart amazed the crowd with his antics on the bar and drew well-earned applause.

One of the spectacular events of the evening was an acrobatic act by members of the Junior Leader Corps. The whole corps showed a good deal of experience in its act, which necessitated a good deal of practice.

POPULAR NUMBER

A number which proved popular with the crowd was the swinging of illuminated clubs by Jack Hartree. Although the instruments that he used looked like clubs while being swung, they were in reality illuminated blocks on the end of cord. This made the swinging much harder, but more spectacular.

Other numbers on the programme included orchestral selections by Miss Hargreaves, C. Miller and A. Hughes, ladder pyramids by the intermediate employed class, mat work drill by the junior employed class, calisthenic drill by the junior school and acrobatics on the long horse by the senior leaders.

TOWNSEND WILL MEET PORTILLO

Flashy Vancouver Boy Will Take on Southerner in Ten-Round Bout on May 27

VANCOUVER, May 1. — Billy Townsend, who has been matched to meet Tony Portillo, of Los Angeles, in a ten-round bout here on Monday, May 11, has also been signed by matchmaker Tom McArdle, of Madison Square Garden, to appear in New York against an opponent yet to be selected on May 27.

Portillo, who battles Townsend here, is from Los Angeles and was imported to the Northwest by Joe Waterman, who purchased the Spanish battler's contract about ten months ago. He is the only battler who has beaten the young Tacoma star, Freddie Steele. Others whom he has beaten since coming to the Northwest are Wildcat Carter, Ritchie King, Doc Snell, Jimmy Britt and Buddy Washinton.

Two other star ten-round bouts and a couple of four-round preliminaries are to be lined up for the big fistic bill besides the ten-rounder between Townsend and Portillo.

THISTLES TO MEET JOKERS

Milton Cup Final Will Be Played at Beacon Hill Grounds Today

TWO STRONG TEAMS WILL TAKE FIELD

The final round of the Milton Cup in the Saturday Football League, between the Jokers and Saanich Thistles, will be played this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at Beacon Hill Park.

Although the Saanich boys have been crippled since the suspension of Joe Crowe and Wes Harper, their chances this afternoon are about even after the showing they made last week against the Jokers at the Royal Athletic Park.

The Jokers will field their strongest team today and will be out all the way to capture the coveted silverware. The game is expected to be one of the best witnessed in the Saturday league for some time, since these two teams always put up good battles and when a championship is at stake the feud will no doubt wax warmly.

The soccer season is gradually drawing to a close in Victoria now, and each week more fans are being seen at the games. Because of the staying ability of both of today's elevens, a large crowd is expected.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

Rover never kicks when I make new friends, so I have no right to, nor do I kick when he strikes up an acquaintance, as we two rovers roam around in the course of the day, or night.

Whilst I meet many, many people almost every day in the year and am fortunate enough to get a host of letters from old and new friends most of the time, Rover does not get many letters, so when one does arrive addressed to him he gets quite excited, and with a delighted wag of his talismanic tail and a delicious wriggle of his attenuated body he sidles up to me and lets me read the welcome epistle, and we enjoy it together as becomes old pals.

It seems that on one of his roamin's he met a dear old cat, sandy colored, ear-bitten and bearing the scars of many a feline battle. And this ginger-hued pussy made up to Rover. They chummed up in great shape, and Rover told Sandy quite a lot about his comings and goings, also many incidents of his doggie career. As a result, this morning Rover received a letter from Sandy, in answer to one I had to write for Rover, in which he requested Sandy to retail some of his experiences. It follows:

"Dear Rover: My first recollection goes back to a sunny afternoon, in a little mining town, that had seen better days. My Mother was just an everyday, common or garden old tabby cat, and belonged to the wife of the Bank Manager. Of my father I have no remembrance, but I've heard it said that he was a scrapper and that in his young days he had come from some kind of a farm that produced a lot of sage brush, some bunch grass and a snake fence, which latter ran the whole way around the wild pre-emption, all except on the river side, which river carried the logs down from the backwoods to the little mill, where everyone worked—but father.

"I was born and lived a few weeks in a very nice house, 'The Bank House,' whereas my father's home on that 'kind of a farm' was really only a tumble-down shack, half rotten old logs and half green, rough lumber, twisty and knotholed at that.

"So, I did put on a little side, even in those few weeks, and then, one sunny afternoon, something happened that changed the whole course of my young life.

"The Bank Manager's wife gave a party, and she invited all the big-little people in that little mining town that had seen better days, who thought they were somebodies, and amongst the number of the elect was an old bachelor, who was not even that. He was an editor; but, of no importance, as the weak weekly paper of which he was the editor was, like himself, of so little importance that it could have gotten along quite as well without being edited at all, for it did not get along, at all, anyway.

"I did not see anything of that party, as, of course, we, that is my mother, myself and three other youngsters, were down in the sort of a basement, and had no idea of what grown humans said and did at parties, or at any other time.

"It appears that after the affair was over, my mother's owner, the wife of the Bank Manager, asked the old bachelor editor of no importance if he would like to take a few of the leftover cakes in a little paper bag up to his tiny shack (where he 'bached' after a fashion), and he must have said he would be delighted, or words to that effect.

"Then she came down to the smelly old basement, where there were all sorts and conditions of things that humans call rubbish and what-not, and she made a grab for me, just me, and popped me into a little paper bag which she carried with her, and she took me in that confined space up the ricketty stairs to the kitchen. She gave me a saucerful of milk, and when I had finished it, I was dropped into the bag again, but not before I had scratched her pretty hands and torn the top of the little paper bag, too.

"We, at length, arrived in the parlor, or front room, or what you like to call it, and there was the old bachelor of no importance, waiting to carry home the little paper bag of leftover cakes.

"'Take care you do not drop the bag on the way home,' she said. And that is my really first recollection of adventures that crowded my young life from that minute, as you shall see, for I am going to tell you, from time to time, all about myself, bit by bit, and I hope you will like it. That's enough for today.

"Yours categorically,
"Just me! SANDY."

The waiter was taking the order of a pretty girl who was accompanied by a florid, podgy, middle-aged man.

"And how about the lobster?" the waiter inquired.

"Oh, he can order whatever he likes," came the startling reply.

The Secret of MARGARET YORKE

By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER XX.

Morning came to "Uplands" with a high, smothering fog; the encircling mountains were lost to view, and the canyons undulated with the milky folds of the soft and cloudy billows of the mist.

Stanley, taking an early walk about the farm, after a long and restless night, noted, as he had noted a thousand times, that the comfortable domestic life of barns and sheds proceeded placidly, unchecked by the apparent stoppage of all Nature's forces.

He loved his home, the man thought, with a pang of keen affection. After the feverish discomfort of the night, the waking and dozing, always with a sense of impending misfortune upon him, he had risen disconsolately; no use to try to sleep, there was no more sleep in the world.

But now this early rising, and those lost hours, seemed nothing. He was here, well and strong, and even healthily hungry, and in this new day anything might happen.

Something did happen, almost immediately, for Margaret and Jim came abruptly about the corner of the big hay barn.

Margaret followed the child slowly, but without hesitation. The fog had curled her rich dark hair into a cloud about the softly olive forehead, her face was pale and looked strained and weary; there was a spiritualized quality about her whole appearance that instantly appealed to Stan, and her dark blue eyes managed a smile as they met his.

"I slept horribly," she said, in answer to the concern in his eyes. "And you did, too!" she added quickly.

"Hardly at all," he answered, smiling down at her. "But I always love to get up early," he continued philosophically, "and I feel fine. But how about you? You fainted last night."

"Yes, I know," she said, flushing hotly, but meeting his eyes squarely. "I suppose I was more tired than I knew! It used to be a bad habit of mine, but I've not fainted for years."

"You frightened me when you fainted," Stanley said, with a sort of timidity. Their relationship seemed to him to have appreciably altered since the arrival of Shirley's telegram. "The—the look in your eyes," he said, "and then that sudden collapse! It made me realize just what you are to me."

"Stupid, stupid thing to do!" she said, anxiously and hurriedly. "It all came over me suddenly——"

"It came over me, too, Margaret," Stanley said, watching her closely. "I felt for the first time that we love each other, that you and I are to be man and wife!"

Margaret raised her eyes, brimming with slow tears, and smiled at him uncertainly.

"That was it, wasn't it, Margaret?" he asked. "You knew then that it was—love—between you and me, didn't you?"

"Yes," she said, in a low tone, "I knew then that it was—that."

"And you knew there never could be anyone else in my life, dear," Stanley said. "I'll wait, and I'll give you all the time you want. But it's you and me, now, Margaret, against all the world!"

"You and me," she whispered, her lips trembling. "What about—her?" she asked, with a glance in the direction of Shirley's room.

"I'll manage her!"

"You know, of course, that I am not free, Stan!"

"You told me that." Stanley smiled at her encouragingly. "But you could be free, Margaret?"

"Only by breaking my oath!" she reminded him quickly.

A moment later, in silence, Stanley followed her into the sunshiny dining-room.

"Just the same, I can't help being happy, Margaret," Stan said. "I can't help feeling that everything is going to come out all right!"

"The main thing," she said, with an adorable upward flash of blue eyes, "the main thing is all right!"

"You mean, our liking each other?" He leaned close to her as he spoke, and the look in his bronzed, boyish face made her heart flutter suddenly.

"I thought you would never come to me again," Margaret said.

"And you are sure, now?" he asked, in the same tone.

"Sure?" she echoed, faintly interrogatory. And with her odd smile she added, "Ah, my dear!"

"We will be happy here, Margaret," he pleaded. "You and I, and our boy, and our farm!"

"If one dared to think of it, even!" the girl said. "Shirley will feel—may feel all the more reason for hurrying the wedding now," she added.

"I don't see why. It might work just the other way," Stan said, reflectively. "But either way, it doesn't matter, for I shall have to tell her the truth."

"You're going to do that?" Margaret asked.

"I have to, now."

"Couldn't Shirley make it very hard for you, Stan?"

"Oh, she will!" he said serenely.

"She might sue you, you know."

"Not with Theobald dying. She talked to me last night about securing her share of his money. She said, in so many words, that she wouldn't be married until that was settled."

"But a divorced woman isn't a man's widow?"

"She might easily be, in one of those Eastern States. Shirley got her divorce here."

"But, Stan, if her husband dies, does her alimony stop?"

"I don't know. I never thought of that. I suppose it does, unless he leaves it to her in his will, which," said Stanley, positively, "I know he won't do."

"Then, Stan, with only her own money—a few hundreds, she told me—and no alimony, and possibly losing the prospect of marrying you, isn't there a chance that she may fight?" Margaret asked.

"What—to marry me?"

"Well, it has been done."

"Yes, but Shirley wouldn't do that!" Stanley said, laughing uncomfortably. "I—Lord, I've known her all my life, there's no harm in her," he added.

"Well, until I am free," Margaret reminded him, "things can drift along."

"Never," said Stanley, in an undertone, as a stir in the living-room beyond them announced Shirley or the Hyde-Browns, "never did anyone in this world love a woman as I love every inch of you!"

Margaret felt the solid earth stagger beneath her, and the radiant color rushed to her face. But she and Stanley had rallied sufficiently to greet the Hyde-Browns decorously enough, as the bride and groom came out for breakfast.

"We are disgracefully late!" said Constance, looking red-cheeked and cheerful after a cold tub. "But this husband of mine has things his own way, and he hates to get up in the mornings!"

"Shirley saves us, by being later," young Hyde-Brown yawned, as Shirley, smiling sheepishly, joined them at the table.

Stanley had risen to draw her chair out for her, and she kissed him quite simply, immediately seating herself and looking about her in her sunniest mood.

"I am a prospective widow, you know, I have some excuse!" she reminded them, with a whimsical smile. "My dear," she added, to the company in general, "isn't it pitiful? I've been thinking about it all night. Poor Cuyler—he isn't forty yet, you know, and he has the constitution of a lion!"

"Think of Cuyler dying—it's had the strangest effect on me," said Shirley frankly to the company. "I'm that way—I'm too soft. Everyone knows how Cuyler treated me, and how hard I tried to stand by him, and yet now—I feel all broken up, honestly I do!"

"You idiot, you ought to hate him!" said Constance Hyde-Brown.

"Oh, I know it!" Shirley agreed quickly. "But I'm no good at hating! I'd go to him, yes, I would, if I thought it would do him the least good," she added, with a little emotion. "Yes, I would!" she repeated quickly, as Stanley's leah, reddened face broke into an incredulous grin.

"You and Stan get married and take in New York on your honeymoon," Willis Hyde-Brown suggested, with the levity of his generation. Stanley's face had grown grave, and he said briefly:

"Pretty good place for you to keep away from, Shirley!"

"My dear," Shirley said placatingly, "Cuyler doesn't need me. I was merely saying that if he were alone, or in trouble, I'm just fool enough to rush to him. No brains," said Shirley to herself, pathetically. "Horrible, horrible fog!" she said, in an attempt to change the subject. "Well, we can play bridge and forget poor Cuyler and his apoplexy!"

They did play bridge, from 10 o'clock until a late luncheon hour, but Cuyler's name persistently crept into the conversation, and it was obvious that Shirley was softening toward him, was growing pensive and introspective, as the hours went by.

She called Stanley from her room, in the late afternoon, and he went to her doorway.

"Tanny, is there talk of tea?" asked Shirley, who was on a broad couch beside the window, with a fat, soft, rose-silk comforter over her.

"Will you have some tea?" he asked, alertly.

"Would it be a horrid bother?"

"My Lord, no! And some cake?"

"No, no cake," said Shirley judiciously. "But ask him if he could make me a little toast, with caviar, Stan? What are you doing, big boy?" she asked sleepily, as he came over toward her.

"Why, we were just going to take a little turn round the place. There's no let-up to the fog, it's like rain, and Mrs. Hyde-Brown said she felt all muggy."

"Let them go without you, dear-est, and come back and have a little tea party just with, me!" Shirley coaxed prettily.

Stanley did not hesitate, although she could hardly have proposed anything less inviting. He had been dozing, with the rest, after the early afternoon rubbers, and now he longed for the fresh, cool, outdoor air and the hour of exercise.

ALL-STAR CAST IN "EAST LYNNE"

Six Months of Research Work Preceded Production of Picture at Dominion

That the management of the Dominion Theatre should claim all roads lead to this playhouse today, Monday and Tuesday, is a statement made reasonable by the presence there of Frank Lloyd's Fox Movietone production of "East Lynne," with Ann Harding, Clive Brook, Conrad Nagel, Beryl Mercer, Cecilia Loftus and others equally well known. Heretofore, the presence of one of these players in a single production was ample signal for what showmen call a "spectacular ballyhoo." "East Lynne," however, can boast a cast of all stars, topped by that most adorable and lovable personality, Ann Harding.

Fox Film consumed more than six months in research work, preparation and actual production, but it was time well spent, for "East Lynne" is the screen's mightiest romantic drama.

"ONLY SAPS WORK" ROMANTIC FARCE

Owen Davis, Author, Distinguished Playwright Credited With Many Successes

Owen Davis, one of America's most distinguished playwrights, is the author of the original play upon which Paramount's "Only Saps Work," the farce-romance at the Coliseum Theatre, is based.

Davis was born in Portland, Maine. He received his education at the University of Tennessee and Harvard. His first play was written in 1898, and for thirty-two years he has held a place in the front rank of American dramatic writers. In 1923 his "Icebound" won the Pulitzer prize as the play best representing the education value and power of the stage.

The play upon which "Only Saps Work" is based is one about a soft-boiled crook and a soft-hearted boy. Leon Errol, famous comedian with the collapsible knees, who starred in shows for Ziegfeld on Broadway, is the comical crook. Richard Arlen is the boy.

Others who have major parts in the doings of this highly amusing show are Mary Brian, Stuart Erwin, Charlie Grapewin and Anderson Lawler.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Joan Lawes, who enacts the warden's daughter in "Up the River," John Ford's hilarious Fox Movietone, now playing at the Playhouse, is also a warden's daughter in real life, her father being none other than Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing prison.

COLUMBIA THEATRE "Captain Thunder," galloping two-gun lover of the badlands, the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone romanza of Old Mexico, now at the Columbia Theatre, is packing the house at each show. Victor Varconi plays the leading role in the clever comedy drama.

CAPITOL THEATRE The unshatterable faith of true love, even though its spoken vows are broken, is the theme of "The Dancers," Fox Movietone version of the great stage play by Sir Gerald Du Maurier and Viola Tree, directed by Chandler Sprague, featuring Lois Moran and Phillips Holmes, which is at the Capitol Theatre last times today.

In reply to the teacher's question, "Which is the national flower of England?" the class answered in unison, "Roses, miss."

"Very good," said the teacher. "Now, what is the national flower of France?"

"Lilies, miss," piped the class.

"Excellent," said the teacher. "Now, which is Spain's national flower?"

There was a long pause, then little Tommy Smart, making up his mind to have a pot shot guess, volunteered the answer, "Bulrushes, miss!"

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

LANGFORD

The regular monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute was held in the hall on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. D. Malcolm presided over an almost full membership attendance, and a number of visitors from Metchosin and Happy Valley. Communications from Vancouver Daily Province, Vancouver; Victoria and Royal Oak Exhibitions Association; Mrs. Alsdorf, Farmers' Institute, Y.W.C.A., League of Nations convener, Country Life in B.C., etc., were dealt with and invitations from Victoria and Royal Oak Women's Institutes were read. Regarding the local rural mail delivery situation, the acting deputy postmaster - general acknowledged the receipt of letter sent by the secretary and letters from Hon. R. H. Pooley and Mr. C. H. Dickie, stated that their effort to help obtain the delivery had been of no avail for the present, but that they would keep the matter in mind. It was announced that the next meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. A. Moir at "Cherry Bank," Langford Lake, and that Miss Doris Ashdown will speak on "Life Insurance and Investment and Its Application to Needs of the Modern Home and Family," also "Educational Contrasts and Annuities, Etc." Miss Ashdown also invited the members to bring questions for a "question box." Mrs. D. B. Bullen, convener of legislation, spoke briefly of her work as convener and introduced Hon. R. H. Pooley, who addressed the meeting on the laws passed recently, particularly those affecting women and children. Mr Pooley spoke of difficulties arising from the world's discontent, also on the Deserted Wife's Maintenance Act, Motor Vehicle Act, advantages of the central registration for motor cars, and what was of utmost importance to women, he stated that the final act giving women the same status as men had at last been passed. The 1 per cent. tax was referred to, also the attempt to protect the Wellington coal industry, and his depreciation of the hunting fatalities led to a most interesting discussion among the members regarding local protection problems. Mr. Pooley explained that 84 per cent of the money collected in taxes is already committed, much of it for pensions, hospitals and social legislation that had been demanded by the people, and these things had to be paid for. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Pooley, after which the hostesses, Mesdames A. Cowie, A. B. Cuthbertson and J. E. Macdonald, served tea on tables decorated with a profusion of Spring flowers. Mrs. J. E. Macdonald was congratulated upon receiving the Langford Women's Institute Challenge Cup for the novice display at the recent Spring Flower Show in Victoria.

I.O.D.E. EVENT MUCH ENJOYED

Gonzales Chapter Gives Entertainment at Home of Mrs. J. H. Gillespie

Charming hospitality and distinctive indoor entertainment at "Windyhaugh," the home of Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, on Fairfield Road, atoned, for the threatening clouds, which precluded a leisurely stroll through the beautiful grounds as originally planned, but which could not obscure the commanding view obtained from the wide recessed windows overlooking the picturesque grounds.

The event was held under the auspices of the Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., and a representative number of members of the order assembled in the drawing-room to hear the drama reading by Mrs. Guy Goddard, which had been arranged as the particular feature of the occasion. The play entitled "The Makropolus Secret," dealt with the fascinating theme of a formula for the prolongation of life for three hundred years, the suffering and disappointment the elixir had brought to its possessor, and its fate after it had been offered to a group of her personal friends. This particular version was a translation of the original copy written by Karel Capek, a young Hungarian playwright of the modern era, and has been secured for Miss Doris Keane, the celebrated English actress, who gave it to Mrs. Goddard last Summer in London, on learning of the latter's interesting work here.

Mrs. B. Tyrwhitt Drake, regent of the Gonzales Chapter, assisted the hostess in receiving the guests, and introduced Mrs. Goddard, later making her a presentation of a lovely spray of flowers as a gift of appreciation from the chapter. Among prominent members of the order in attendance were Mrs. Curtis Sampson, provincial president, and Mrs. L. A. Genge, regent of Municipal Chapter.

Purchase of two wheelbeds and two electric coffee percolators was authorized by the Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital at its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon; also purchase of new linoleum for the unit in the old building, which is being redecorated by the auxiliary. The president, Mrs. J. J. Collinson, occupied the chair.

Arrangements were completed for the dance to be given for the graduating class and friends, and provision was made for furnishing the bouquets for the graduates at their exercises to be held on May 28.

Satisfaction was expressed by the members over the proceeds from the recent tag day, held under the auspices of the auxiliary, which amounted to $849.31, and the meeting tendered its appreciation of the assistance given to insure success of the annual appeal for funds.

Bishop Thinks Woman's Place Is in Her Home

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—At the first annual meeting of the Federation of French-Canadian Women here last night, reports presented from branches scattered throughout the Dominion, showed the organization had enjoyed a year of progress. At the annual luncheon, atteded by more than two hundred members, Bishop R. Villeneuve, of Gravelbourg, Sask., was among the speakers.

The bishop was not in favor of extreme feminism, he declared, believing that woman's place was in the home; but he expressed admiration for women who took an active part in public affairs. There was a great need for further legislation in the interests of womanhood, he added.

Pianoforte Pupils Heard in Recital

Some of the piano class and private junior pupils of Miss Sylvia Boyden, L.A.B., were heard in recital on Thursday evening at the Y.W.C.A., an interesting gathering of parents and friends assembling in the sitting-room for the occasion. A. H. Marion took the chair.

The programme varied in style and was well represented by the simpler works of the leading composers, such as Haydn, Bach, Schumann, Mozart, Beethoven, Swinstead, Brahms and others.

The programme included two duets, a rhythmic band selection, and piano solos by the following: Loraine Saul, Phylis Ockwell, Jack Jeffrey, Anne Oldfield, Phylis Dawkins, Bobby Redgrave, Betty Millins, Marjorie Symonds, Gordon Hayward, Florence Beaven, Ruth Richmond, Mary Ford, Clarabel Peters, Victor Blanco, Winnifred Woodward, Douglas Dunn, Kathleen McMuldrock, Loraine Willerton, Doreen Crowther, Jean Davidson, Alice King, Doreen King and Josephine Cook. The singing of Master Ronald Heddle, boy soprano, was much enjoyed; also recitations by Eleanor and Allison Woodward.

A salvation meeting will be held at 7:15. On Monday at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Colonel Miller will address an open meeting for women, and on Monday night at 8 o'clock the visitors will hold their last meeting in the citadel, when the colonel will mention in his address the self-denial effort, its objective and results.

A clergyman engaged a sweep to sweep the rectory chimneys, and meeting him afterwards, the reverend gentleman asked him what the charge was.

The sweep replied: "One guinea, sir."

The clergyman said: "You charge rather a lot, don't you?"

The sweep replied: "Yes, we black cloth gentlemen earn our money quick and easy!"

"It is hard for a woman to understand statistics," said a Government official to a friend.

"I guess that is so," said the other. "I told my wife the other day that for every passenger the railways of this country transported two tons of freight, and she wanted to know why the passengers were allowed to carry so much baggage."

Churches and Their World-Wide Work

Scottish Church To Be Petitioned To Ordain Women

Marchioness of Aberdeen Leads Movement in Church of Scotland to Admit Women to All Offices of the Church

The traditional attitude of the Church of Scotland is assailed in the petition which will be presented at the forthcoming General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, which pleads for the right of women to take up office in the church on the same conditions as men. The petition is signed by 350 members of congregations in the Presbytery of Edinburgh, among whom are the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, well known in Canada as the wife of Lord Aberdeen, a former Governor-General; the late Lady Frances Balfour and Lady Balfour of Burleigh.

The question of the ordination of women has never been discussed by the Church of Scotland, although it was considered some years ago by the United Free Church. The Presbyterian Church in England admits women to the session, ordaining them as elders. This is also the practice of some of the Presbyterian bodies in China. Presbyterianism in neither Canada nor the United States has taken action to this end.

The petitioners set forth their "desire that the barriers which prevent women from ordination to the ministry, the eldership and the diaconate be removed so that the principle of spiritual equality for which the Church stands be embodied in its constitution."

They express their belief "that the continued exclusion of women from these offices is contrary to the mind and teaching of Christ, and that it limits the operation of the Spirit of God, and are convinced that women no less than men are called to the ministry of the Church, and that the Church is the poorer by reason of women being debarred from the ministry as well as from the other offices."

The petitioners further point out that "in the mission field women are placed at a disadvantage through their ineligibility for ordination, and urge that the position now held by women in every sphere of life calls for the reconsideration of the place of women in the Church of Scotland."

Two anthems will be given in the evening, "I Will Sing of Thy Mercies" (Darnton) and "Thou Wilt Keep Him" (Bowles).

Presbyterianism Started Here 70 Years Next June

Bishop Opened Church

THE new Church of St. Peter, Campbell River, was recently dedicated by the Bishop of Columbia, who was accompanied by the Archdeacon and Rev. Alan Greene, the missionary in charge of that district of the Columbia Coast Mission. The church has been built on a central site, close to the public school, and on the main road leading to Forbes Landing. It is of timber construction with a large vestry at the chancel end.

There are large swing doors which shut off the sanctuary, so that the building can also be used for the worship of other approved Christian bodies. Above these doors is an attractively decorative feature in a boldly conceived band of wrought iron work. The altar was made and given by Mr. Slater, of Victoria, and the organ was given by Mrs. Walter. The slender spire was paid for by the offerings of the children and is of graceful proportions. The church was designed by the Archdeacon and the builder was H. H. Hayes.

Small Gain in U.S. Church Membership

Methodists and Presbyterians Lost Ground in 1930, While Baptists and Lutherans Made Large Gain—Good Increase in Ministry

The report of the membership in 1930 of fifty-five denominations in the United States, published in The Christian Herald, of New York, shows an increase for the year of only 88,359, the smallest gain on record. Dr. G. F. Kieffer, the new church statistician, successor of the late Dr. H. K. Carroll, raises the question "whether the churches are actually gaining or losing ground, and losing vigor of growth."

Of the leading denominations the Methodists, who for the first time in a hundred years showed a decline in membership in 1929, suffered a further net loss of 43,211 in 1930. The Presbyterians also fell off 22,763, and the Disciples of Christ 18,567. In fact, according to Dr. Kieffer's figures, the Baptists and the Lutherans together accounted for much more than the total of all increases; the Baptists gaining 74,706, and the Lutherans 56,180, a total of 130,886, or 45,536 more than the total net gain of all the denominations.

Other churches which made moderate gains are the Catholics, 17,526, the Protestant Episcopalians, 16,532, and several smaller denominations. These gains were more than offset by corresponding losses in other sects of similar numerical rank.

"But there are not a few favorable signs. One is that there has been no decrease in the number of new churches; another is that there has been a gain in the number of ministers. The younger ministers do not seem to be falling off, and it is from them that the church must expect the evangelistic appeal which it so much needs."

Another encouraging fact, according to Dr. Kieffer, is that the ratio of church members to total population of the country has shown a steady gain for a century. In 1830 there were ten church members for each seventy-five of population; in 1930 there were ten church members for every twenty-five of total population.

The Baptists (fifteen bodies) in 1930 had 9,216,562 communicants, a gain of 76,706 over the 1929 figures. Congregationalist-Christian, 1,048,281, gain 753. Disciples of Christ (two bodies), 1,988,392, loss 18,567. Lutherans (seventeen bodies), 2,806,797, gain 56,180. Methodists (sixteen bodies), 9,119,069, loss 43,211. Presbyterians (nine bodies), 2,677,369, loss 22,763. Protestant Episcopal, 1,254,227, gain 16,532. Western Catholics (three bodies), 17,316,673, gain 17,526.

The Nonsuch

Milestones Along the Path of Progress

First Trading Venture

Two hundred and sixty-three years ago a ketch of fifty tons burthen put out from Gravesend on a voyage to the New World, on the first fur-trading expedition from Britain to the shores of Hudson Bay. The ship bore the significant name of "Nonsuch," and proved worthy of it.

The voyage was made possible by the practical interest of Prince Rupert and certain gentlemen and merchants of the City of London.

With Captain Gillam in command, and Medard Chousrt des Grosseilliers guiding the trading venture, and a complement of forty-two men aboard, the "Nonsuch" sailed through Hudson Strait, down that vast inland sea, Hudson Bay, discovered by the ill-fated Henry Hudson a little over half a century before, and southward to James Bay, coming to anchor at the mouth of a river they named Rupert's River.

So began the Company's trade in what has become the Dominion of Canada.

The Adventurers of England

Four days after the arrival of the "Nonsuch" at Rupert's River, a small band of Indians viewed with astonishment the wonder-ship riding at anchor, and the work of the white men on shore.

With a distribution of gifts and an exchange of signs commenced a friendship between the Company's men and the Indians which has lasted 263 years.

The Indians departed, promising to return with beaver skins, which they did, receiving in exchange beads, mirrors, combs, hatchets and other trinkets dear to the heart of the natives.

In 1669 the "Nonsuch" returned to England loaded with furs, while Grosseilliers and some of his men remained at Fort Charles pursuing their fur trading.

The success of the venture overjoyed its sponsors. Representations were made to King Charles the Second, through his gallant cousin, Prince Rupert, for the sole rights of trade in this new market which thefr private enterprise had discovered, and this resulted in the granting of the Royal Charter.

So came into being "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson's Bay."

Two Royal Governors

A Royal Charter! Right well was it named. Sponsored by a Prince; granted by a King—King Charles the Second—to the Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay—and bearing the Great Seal of England.

The first two Governors of the Company—a Prince of Royal blood and a King!

Prince Rupert, Count Palatine of the Rhine, Duke of Bavaria and Cumberland, grandson of King James the First of England, cousin to King Charles the Second, and the third son of the King of Bohemia and Princess Elizabeth Stuart, the eldest daughter of King James the First of England and Sixth of Scotland—a dashing cavalier, an intrepid seaman, an enlightened student, a patron of the arts, science and commerce of his day.

H.R.H. Duke of York, brother of King Charles the Second, and second son of King Charles the First and Queen Henrietta Maria, and later King James the Second, succeeded Prince Rupert in 1683 as Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company.

A Royal Charter!

Pro Pelle Cutem

The Royal Charter of the Hudson's Bay Company was granted May 2, 1670. It is still preserved in London, England.

The document consists of five sheets of parchment bearing twenty-seven square feet of close scrjvening.

The Heraldic Coat-of-Arms or Armorial Bearings of the Company consists of a shield of white or silver, with the Red Cross of Saint George between four Black Beaver.

The motto on the scroll—PRO PELLE CUTEM, signifies in simple terms, "Skin for Skin"—"The trader risks his skin in procuring the animal's hide"—in modern parlance—a square deal.

In January, 1670, at Garraway's Coffee House, in London, the first public sale of furs was held. Many distinguished gentlemen were present, including Prince Rupert and the Duke of York.

Fort Prince of Wales

The Hudson's Bay Company commenced its permanent location in what is now Manitoba in 1672, two hundred and fifty-nine years ago. This was at Fort Nelson.

In 1688 the first Prince of Wales Fort was built by the Company five miles up the Churchill River.

Captain James Knight found there the bones of the expedition of Captain Jens Munk, which Wintered there in 1619.

The building of the stone fort Prince of Wales was commenced in 1733, from plans of the Duke of Marlborough's military engineers.

This fort was considered impregnable. Samuel Hearne, the famous H B C explorer, started on his journeys from Fort Prince of Wales, and he was Governor of his stronghold when, in 1782, with a force of thirty-nine men, he capitulated to Admiral De La Perouse, with three French men-of-war and 400 troops.

Fort Prince of Wales was looted and partly demolished. It was never rebuilt.

Churchill, Manitoba's new port, is situated within hail of the ruins of Fort Prince of Wales.

Milestones Along the Path of Progress

First Man to the Arctic by Overland

"Unknown rivers, strange lands, rumored copper mines and the Northwest Passage," such was the quest assigned to Samuel Hearne, of the Hudson's Bay Company, by Moses Norton, the half-breed Governor of Fort Prince of Wales.

Hearne started northward, overland, in 1769, but was deserted by his Indian companions and had to return. He made his second attempt early in 1770. This time his quadrant was blown over and broken, and once more he had to turn back. On this journey he suffered greatly—feeding on scraps of old leather and burnt bones.

His third attempt, commenced on December 7, 1770, with Chief Matonabbee, a shrewd Indian, as guide, was successful. He reached the Coppermine River on July 13, 1771, descended it and obaerved the Arctic Ocean; the first white man to reach the Polar Sea overland. He possessed the coast in the name of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Samuel Hearne was rewarded for his service and became Governor of Fort Prince of Wales.

The Selkirk Settlers

Fur trading—Exploration—Land Settlement—Nationhood. Such have been the milestones along the path of progress of the Hudson's Bay Company.

In 1811 the Company granted to the Earl of Selkirk 116,000 square miles of territory in the Red River valley upon which to plant his projected colony of Scottish and Irish settlers.

The land was formally possessed on September 4, 1812, in the presence of settlers, Hudson's Bay officials, representatives of the Earl of Selkirk, three Northwest Company officers, free Canadians and Indians. The patent was read, guns discharged, and the colors flown. Thus was ratified the first organized land settlement scheme in Western Canada.

Eviction, disease, fire, storm, flood, starvation and insect plague assailed those pioneers, twice driven into exile, four times compelled to build and rebuild their humble homes along the western bank of the Red River at Fort Douglas. But with unbelievable faith and courage they won through.

Rupert's Land's Greatest Governor

George Simpson was sent out to Rupert's Land in 1820 in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company. He was a young man of dynamic energy, and possessed great tact and diplomacy, which proved potent factors in cementing the friendship of the fur traders after the amalgamation of the Northwest and Hudson's Bay Companies in 1821. A wonderful organizer, he established routes and trading posts throughout Western Canada, travelling with rapidity and dignity across the continent.

In 1824 he made a record-breaking journey of eighty-four days from York Factory to the Pacific Coast in order to consolidate British claims to that part of the country, and it was largely through his energy and foresight that the coast of British Columbia was preserved for the Empire.

He did much to put the Selkirk Settlement on a prosperous basis.

He died at his home at Lachine on September 7, 1860. An Empire Builder—a great Governor!

An Apprentice Who Became a Governor

In the year 1828, in the absence of Chief Factor William Connolly, a young clerk in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company at Fort St. James, British Columbia, greeted Governor George Simpson on his arrival.

Fifteen years later, now a Chief Factor in the service, this man was sent by Dr. John McLoughlin to seek a suitable site for a trading post well within undisputed British territory. His choice was made, and on March 14, 1843, with fifteen men, he anchored off Camosun, Vancouver Island. By September he had built a fort.

In building that fort, he founded the beautiful City of Victoria, now the Capital of British Columbia.

On September 19, 1858, at Fort Langley, greeted with a salute of eighteen guns, this man, now matured in body and in wisdom, took the oath of allegiance as Governor of the newly-formed Crown Colony of British Columbia. Five years later, 1863, Queen Victoria bestowed a knighthood upon him for his services to the Empire.

And so the obscure young Hudson's Bay Company clerk at Fort St. James, who welcomed Governor Simpson in 1828, became Sir James Douglas.

The Ss. Beaver

Ships and men! For such have the Hudson's Bay Company been famed throughout history. Of their ships—the "Nonsuch," the "Happy Return," the "Prince of Wales," the "Beaver," the "Pelican," the "Otter," the 'Nascopie' and a host of others, are quickly recalled to memory.

But on the Pacific Coast the Ss. "Beaver" has always held first place in historic affection.

Built on the Thames, England, in 1835, she was the first steamship to round the Horn, although she made the voyage under canvas, with her engines stowed in her hold.

She was the first steamship to ply the Pacific Coast, and her record was forty years of strenuous service.

The rakish little craft was present at the founding of Fort Victoria. She policed the Coast, maintaining law and order in behalf of the Company.

The Ss. "Beaver" was prominent in practically every historical event on the Pacific Coast between 1836 and 1874.

Her latter days were spent in charting and freighting. On July 26, 1888, she piled on the rocks at Prospect Point, Vancouver, and became a total wreck.

Victoria High School Annual Sports Meet Slated for May 22

Large Entry List Is Predicted for Event This Year

Art Chapman to Defend Honors in Senior Division While Junior and Intermediate Sections Will Be Open—W. A. Roper and Miss Mona Miller to Handle Meet

Varied Card Offered Athletes

Athletes of the Victoria High School are now training in all sports for the annual High School meet which will be held on May 22. As in other years, the list of events is long and varied, offering opportunity for practically every student of the school. The competition is under the direction of William A. Roper and Miss Mona Miller, physical instructors of the school.

In the senior division Art Chapman will defend his laurels won last year. George Dickson, last year's intermediate champion, will move up into the senior section this year, leaving the intermediate crown open. Dave Ewing, last year's junior winner, will also move up another section, leaving the junior section open.

"The competition this year promises to be keen and provide plenty of action," declared Coach Roper yesterday, "and I think that this year is one of the most open in the history of the school."

CLASSY FIELD

Contesting against Chapman will be Lynn Patrick, Reg. Bristowe and George Dickson. With past performances all of these have proved themselves worthy opponents. Patrick, who took to running two or three years ago, has risen high in the school athletic ranks. He is one of the premier athletes of the school in practically every line of sport. Reg. Bristowe is a newcomer to the school although he is by no means a newcomer to athletics. Bristowe was one of the fastest runners at the University School, which he attended last year, and when it comes to stepping out the 100, 220 and 440 he is expected to be seen among the leaders. As previously stated, George Dickson was intermediate champion last year and this is sufficient to warrant him as an opponent.

GIRLS' EVENTS

The girls' events are probably a little more open than the boys' and plenty of upsets are expected from the younger class who only entered the institution this year.

On the sports day the tennis finals will take place in the morning as well as the finals of the softball and baseball leagues that are now progressing at the school. The whole of the afternoon is devoted to the running and jumping events, the preliminaries of which are run off previously.

In past years the events have been run off in a most creditable and harmonious manner and Coaches Roper and Miss Miller are making untiring efforts in their endeavor to make this year's sports day a memorable one.

THE EVENTS

The complete list of events follows:

Boys

Intermediate — 100 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards, 120-yard hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump.

Girls

Intermediate—75 yards, 60-yard hurdles, high jump, broad jump, baseball throw.

Open—Sack race.

Both boys' and girls' interyear relays will be held, open to any members in first, second or third year.

FORTY-SIX WILL SEEK GOLF TITLE

Select Field Will Tee Off in Colwood Championship on Sunday

NORMAN WALLACE TO DEFEND CROWN

Forty-six of the strongest members of the Royal Colwood Golf Club will start out in the qualifying round of the club championship Sunday. Eighteen holes will constitute the test and the low sixteen will enter the select group and start match play the following week.

Norman Wallace, nineteen-year-old youngster, who captured the crown last year, will be out to defend his laurels again and will have plenty of stiff competition to beat if he is to repeat. Wallace is playing sound golf and will face the starter as one of the favorites.

Harold Lineham, the club's lowest handicap player, is expected to make a great bid for the title this year. Lineham is playing good golf now and on Thursday carded a 73 for the difficult layout. Another threat will be the hard-hitting southpaw, Jack Matson, who last week won the qualifying round in the club championship at Oak Bay. Matson for several months has been setting a fast pace in tournament golf and is expected to go a long way.

Percy Edmonds, the veteran E. W. Ismay and Walter Hall are also expected to furnish some stiff opposition.

Teachers Suffer Defeat at Hands Of High Students

Students of the Victoria High School yesterday overwhelmed the teachers in a golf tournament played at Macaulay Point, when they captured every match from them.

The boys played consistent games in each case and well deserved their victory. In some cases the decisions were close and the youths were extended to the utmost to win from their superiors.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Door of Death—Every three years about 2,000 applicants enter the Examinations Hall in Peking, China, to take the competitive examinations for civil service. These examinations consist of physical, mental and spiritual tests, usually lasting from forty-eight hours to seventy-two hours, during which time students are under constant strain. Usually a few competitors collapse during the ordeal and as they are carried out an intermission is announced to witness the ceremony as their bodies are carried through the "Door of Death." See "Hall for the Pursuit of Wisdom," by Kang Yu-Wu, or "Imperial Academy in Peking," by Prof. Schmidt.

Theseus—Father of Boxing—"Pugulism" comes from the Latin of "pugil," and means fighting with clenched fists. But the game is presumed to have been originated in Greece by Theseus, son of Argus, King of Athens, about 900 B.C., and gets its first mention in Homer's Iliad. Theseus is pictured as a youth who was patron saint of the Undertakers and Embalmers Union of Athens and vicinity, and the game as invented by him was fought with gloves studded with spikes, resulting in the death of one and sometimes both of the participants. Four Course Captures 1,000 Guineas Stakes

NEWMARKET, England, May 1 (CP).—Lord Ellesmere's bay filly Four Course, by Tetratema out of Dinner, today won the one thousand guineas, second of the season's classics for three-year-olds, and one of the only two classics of the English turf restricted to fillies.

M. H. Benson's Lady Marjorie, by Sansovino out of Florena, finished second, and Lady Helen MacCalmont's Lindos Ojos, by Buen Ojo out of Fourfold, was third. Twenty fillies ran, the race being over the Rowley mile.

Four Course started at odds of 100 to 9 against, Lady Marjorie at 4 to 1 and Lindos Ojos at 10 to 1.

With extras, the race was worth something over $40,000.

The one thousand guineas has been run since 1818 and is the "youngest" of the five great classics—the two thousand, the Derby, the Oaks and St. Ledger being the other four.

BRILLIANT CAREER

Four Course had a brilliant career last year, winning three times and placing second in four starts. Her victories included the July Stakes at Newmarket and the Richmond Stakes at Goodwood.

Lindos Ojos, like Four Course, was among the greatest money winners in last year's brilliant two-year-old fields, with six victories and a third out of eight starts, one of her wins being the rich Ham Produce Stakes at Goodwood.

Mrs. Chester Beatty's Great Scot, at odds of three to one, won the Brintlye Welter Handicap at one mile by a neck from Major A. Bonsor's Enniskridge with Edward Esmonds' Woodchuck third. Five others ran. The race was worth £1,500.

The chief threat to his crown is expected to be Bob Morrison, who was runner-up to Brynjolfson in the provincial meet. Morrison has held the title several times and is playing sound golf now.

Al Falk, Dr. Westwood, Jack Savident and Bill Leith are also expected to be prominent contenders.

BRILLIANT FINISH DOWNS MRS. PARRY 3 AND 2 IN FINAL

New Titleholder Plays Sensational Golf on Last Nine in Defeating Southpaw Opponent in Final Round—Thirty-Foot Putt Ends Match on Sixteenth Green

Winner Takes Lead for First Time at Eleventh; Prizes Presented

Unloosing a flock of birdies and pars on the second nine after being down most of the outward journey, Mrs. Sayward - Wilson captured the Royal Colwood Golf Club's women's championship yesterday afternoon when she defeated Mrs. Walter Parry, 3 and 2, in the eighteen-hole final. The round was played under ideal weather conditions and drew a fair gallery.

The brand of golf displayed by the finalists was highly commendable, and found two veteran links-women pitted against one another. Mrs. Sayward - Wilson (formerly Miss Margaret Sayward), has been prominent in British Columbia golf circles for many years, and at one time held the provincial championship. Yesterday's victory brought her her third Colwood title. Mrs. Parry also has been a strong tournament contender for some time, but she has yet to win a major title. She has been runner-up in a flock of events, but the elusive titles always seem to slip from her grasp.

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson again demonstrated she is a strong finisher yesterday in gathering in the prized Nichol Cup. She was never up until the eleventh hole, but from then on it was Mrs. Parry who was down.

SHAKY START

The play of the new champion, who succeeds Mrs. Philbrick to the throne, was shaky going out, and she rounded the turn one down. On the homeward journey, however, she began to show her real form, and the fighting southpaw, Mrs. Parry, could not cope with her strong play.

Both players' long games were good, with Mrs. Sayward-Wilson outdriving her opponent most of the time.

Probably the greatest feature of the finalists was their short game. Going out, Mrs. Parry's work around and on the greens was uncanny, while coming home Mrs. Sayward-Wilson had the gallery talking about her marvelous chip shots to the green and magic putting. Four times in the last seven holes Mrs. Sayward - Wilson rammed home marathon putts, the final one on the sixteenth being at least thirty feet.

Mrs. Parry won the first hole with a birdie four after sinking a long putt. The champion squared the match on the next hole after some poor putting. On this hole Mrs. Sayward-Wilson laced out two long woods, and was well on the carpet, but took four putts. Mrs. Parry was bunkered in her third and missed two shots on the trap.

SPLENDID RECOVERY

Both played the third perfectly, and the hole was halved in 5's. A splendid recovery from a trap on the right of the green, after Mrs. Sayward-Wilson missed her drive and was over in two and up against a stump, gave Mrs. Parry a par three and the fourth hole to go one up again. The long fifth was halved in 6's, and the sixth in 5's. A birdie two, after sinking a ten-foot putt, gave the new titleholder the seventh and the pair went to the next hole all square. The eighth was halved in 5's.

Mrs. Parry took the lead again on the ninth, when she got down in 5. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson's third shot here hit a tree and bounced back, and she three-putted the green.

A beautiful putt for a birdie four on what looked to be a half stymie, gave the winner the tenth hole, and the match was squared again. Mrs. Parry's tee shot on the eleventh was badly sliced, and she conceded the hole after missing two more with Mrs. Sayward-Wilson stiff for a par three. The twelfth was halved in 6's.

A marathon putt from the sloping upper edge of the green, after her second shot had lit in the ditch guarding the green, gave Mrs. Sayward-Wilson a half on the thirteenth. Mrs. Parry played this hole well, but she failed to get down a short putt for a win. The long fourteenth was halved in 6's.

Sinking a ten-footer gave Mrs. Sayward-Wilson the fifteenth and put her two up. Both were short with their drives, and Mrs. Parry's putt for a half rimmed the cup.

Finis was written to the match on the sixteenth when Mrs. Sayward-Wilson caged a thirty-foot putt for a birdie four. Mrs. Parry was only about a foot away with her fourth and looked like getting half when her opponent's putt hit the back of the cup squarely and dropped.

AROUND IN 87

Some idea of the fast pace set by Mrs. Sayward-Wilson on the last nine is indicated by the score. After a shaky 46 going out, the new champion finished out the last nine in a snappy 41 for a total of 87—no mean score for any player. Mrs. Parry was out in a fine 43, and back in 48 for a total of 91.

Cards follow:

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson:
Out ..... 565 565 257—46
In ..... 436 563 4—
Mrs. Parry:
Out ..... 475 365 355—43
In ..... 556 564 5—

Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. Rhodes will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the first flight final. The former defeated Mrs. Lee, 8 and 7, while the latter accounted for Mrs. Watson, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Rasmussen won the second flight when she defeated Mrs. Hodges, 5 and 4, while Mrs. C. E. Wilson took honors in the third flight when she downed Mrs. J. Grey at the nineteenth.

ICE BODY TO WATCH TOURISTS

Investigations to Be Made of Players Contemplating Change of Residence

WHOLESALE RAIDING WILL BE CHECKED

REGINA, May 1.—A warning to hockey players throughout the Dominion of Canada who contemplate changing residence before May 15 so that they can play for a new team next season, was issued last night by Jack Hamilton, president of the C.A.H.A. The circumstances surrounding every transfer will be investigated by the C.A.H.A. before play starts next season, and a Dominion-wide effort to curb the activities of the hockey player known as a "tourist" will be made.

The aid of the various clubs is counseled by the C.A.H.A. president in stamping out the undesirable "raiding" of certain parties, and the club officials are asked to investigate all transfers before signing a player's release.

"The number of players contemplating changing residence this year is alarming," Mr. Hamilton told the Canadian Press, "and, on behalf of the C.A.H.A., I warn these men that their activities will be closely investigated before the season opens so that there will be no grief next Winter."

PLAYERS WARNED

"Press dispatches of late show an alarming increase in the prior to May 15 change of residence of hockey players to such an extent that extra precautions will be taken by the C.A.H.A. to see that the various transfers are bona fide. It would be well for all hockey players contemplating a change of residence at this conspicuous time of the year to make sure that the conditions surrounding such move comply with the C.A.H.A. regulations should they hope to play hockey for their new city next Winter. To the clubs losing players it might be stated they must be satisfied that the change of residence of the players they are losing is up and aboveboard before they issue the release of the said players.

"In short, an endeavor will be made to curb the activities of the tourist hockey player. The aid of all branch officers of the C.A.H.A. will be enlisted in an effort to stop this wholesale raiding."

That familiar cry will resound at the Royal Athletic Park this afternoon at 3 o'clock, as the Sons of Canada, last year's champions, and the Eagles set about the job of prying off the lid of the 1931 season here. Rival camp managers report their squads in good shape and ready for a bitter struggle.

OFFICIAL CEREMONY

The official opening ceremony will see the Province of British Columbia represented by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, an ardent baseball fan, who will pitch the first ball. The chief magistrate will try to clout the first ball pitched, while Alderman Adam will complete the battery. Lloyd Cann, speedball artist, has been assigned the mound duty in this initial fixture by Manager Jack Bacon, of the Sons of Canada. Opposing Cann will be Pat Cornwall, a former teammate but this year with the Eagles.

With members of the fair sex and children as guests of the league, officials are looking forward to a bumper crowd for today's opening game. Last year over 1,500 fans made their way to the ball lot for the initial struggle, but this number is expected to go by the boards today.

Following today's tussle, the teams will start their regular schedule of fixtures and play on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

C. SHUTTLEWORTH TO JUDGE SHOW

Annual Event of Victoria City Kennel Club to Be Presided Over by Californian

For the annual show of the Victoria Kennel Club, which is held under Canadian Kennel Club rules, the organization has been fortunate in securing the services of Chris Shuttleworth to judge all breeds. Shuttleworth is considered one of the foremost present judges of America, and resides in North Hollywood, Cal. Since this appointment became known, many letters of congratulation have been received by the club on appointing a man of such calibre as judge.

While Shuttleworth resides in California, he spent the greater part of his life in Lancashire, England, the county that is noted for its sportsmen, and where he learned in the bitter school of experience the difference between a "mut" and a "dog." At the present time he owns one of the largest variety kennels in California, where some of the most noted celebrities of the canine world reside.

The committee in charge of this event is endeavoring to place Victoria on top, by staging the largest show in the Dominion. The past two years they have only been beaten by one point by the Toronto Exhibition for this position. If advance inquiries mean anything, their ambition will, without a doubt, be realized, for they are pouring in from every direction, as well as entries.

Spratts Patent, Ltd., of London, England, through their local agents, Thompson Brereton & Co., have donated a handsome silver cup to be awarded to the best of all breeds in the show.

One thousand premium lists and entry forms have been mailed to prospective exhibitors throughout Canada and the United States.

The premium list, which is the best ever put out by the club, has only been made possible by the generosity of the local storekeepers and merchants of the city, and dog lovers. This consists of many valuable silver cups, cut glass, silverware, and many other useful articles, as well as a liberal amount of cash.

The first eleven of the University School will meet the University Incogs this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a cricket match at the Mount Tolmie grounds.

PERCY WILLIAMS' RECORD BEATEN

South American Sprinter Bests 1928 Olympic 100-Metre Dash Mark

BUENOS AIRES, April 30 (AP).—Two South American runners equaled the winning time of Percy Williams, of Vancouver, B.C., in the 1928 Olympic 100-metre dash, and one bettered the Canadian flash's mark, today in the seventh South American championships, to give an indication of the strength which may be expected from South America in the 1932 games at Los Angeles. Argentina and Chile shared the honors in the day's three finals.

Blanchuliti, Argentine sprint star, was timed in 10.7 seconds in winning his heat of the 100 metres, a tenth of a second better than the winning time at Amsterdam in 1928. The time was three-tenths of a second slower than the world's record. The winners of the other two heats were clocked in 10.8 seconds.

WINS GOLF TITLE

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 1 (AP).—Billy Howell, eighteen-year-old student at Washington and Lee University, today added the Old Dominion championship to his list of sectional golf titles. He defeated E. H. Bobbitt, of Hot Springs, 8 and 7, in their thirty-six-hole final match over the Cascades course.

LARGE CROWD WILL WITNESS BOXING SHOW

Return of Popular Sport to Victoria to Be Made Tonight

EXCELLENT CARD BILLED FOR FANS

Judging from the advance sale of pasteboards, a big crowd will be on hand tonight to witness the return of boxing to Victoria, when five bouts will be offered at the Tillicum Club. The first event will get under way at 8:45 o'clock sharp.

In the main event, K. O. Krogg, of Prince George, will battle Teddy Beales, Victoria, in six rounds at 165 pounds. Krogg, who is making his first appearance here, will, no doubt, make a favorable impression on the fans, if his past record is to be taken into account. Manager F. S. Douglas believes that Krogg is a coming champion, and local fans will be given an opportunity to form their opinions tonight. In the nine bouts that he has participated in Krogg has only been knocked off his feet once, that by Lou Brown, of Seattle, who fought at 184 pounds. After Brown had knocked his opponent down, Krogg came back and knocked the Seattle boy down five times in two minutes to take the decision. Beales will be the first fighter that the Prince George boy has met at his own weight, his other opponents having always been heavier.

The semi-windup will bring together Harry Marshall, Vancouver, and Wing Hay, Victoria, in a six-round go at 126 pounds.

The preliminary card is not lacking in good material. Billy Gerrard, Vancouver, and Danny Pastroe, Victoria, will meet for four rounds at 135 pounds, while "Spider" Kelly, Vancouver, and Frankie Neal, Victoria, will provide a four-round bout at 116 pounds. Phil Trudeau and Clarence Leask are billed for a four-round bout at 130 pounds. Roy Baker, of Victoria, will be third man in the ring during all bouts.

Last Hour Slump Wipes Out Much Of Thursday Gain

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).—Stocks stumbled into an air pocket in the last hour of trading today and lost a substantial part of the Thursday rally.

Some issues, United States Steel among them, more than dropped their gains of the previous session and went to new lows for the bear market.

Until midafternoon the list had given a reasonably good account of itself, rising 1 to 4 points in a quiet extension of the advance.

Perhaps the absence of aggressive covering told the bears they had little to fear from a further squeeze. Whatever the reason, a selling movement that started slowly picked up momentum toward the close and became a scramble to dump stocks in the last fifteen minutes. The average net decline was 3.5 points, against yesterday's rise of 5.7. Sales totaled 2,900,000 shares, of which 900,000 represented transactions in the final fifty minutes.

United States Steel, which sold up a point, to 121, in the rally, plunged to 113 1-2, the lowest since 1927, and closed at 114 1-4, off 5 3-4. New York Central flopped to 94 3-4, also a new low, finishing at 95 1-2 for a net loss of 3 3-4.

Auburn turned a gain of 14 1-2 into a decline of 28. Bethlehem, after rallying 3 in response to smaller dividend cuts than had been anticipated, closed 2 points lower. Union Carbide, Columbian Carbon, Case and Westinghouse dropped 4 or more, and there were losses of 2 to 3 in American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Sears-Roebuck, Anaconda, Consolidated Gas, Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and Union Pacific.

The bond market reached higher levels, especially in the second-grade rail issues.

WHEAT PRICES HOLD AT LEVEL

Downward Revision of German Wheat Tariff Is Announced

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP).—The grain market celebrated May Day today by remaining fairly steady, with a slightly lower trend, final prices being unchanged to 1-2 cent below yesterday's close.

Advices from Germany that, in future, tariffs on foreign wheat will be fixed monthly, with a downward revision of possibly 30 cents per bushel, was an important factor.

Export sales were estimated at 700,000 bushels. Cash wheat was in fair demand, with spreads slightly better than Thursday.

Pit trade in coarse grains was light, but values were higher.

Whitney Letter

(Logan & Bryan)

NEW YORK, May 2.—Witney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says:

While some setback was expected in yesterday's session, and while its absence in the anticipated first half normally threw the probabilities over into the later portion of the day, there is no denying the fact that the severity of the decline in the last two hours raises some question of whether the market is any good at all. The outstanding development these last two hours is, of course, the new low in United States Steel, with Can reapproaching its low altogether too closely for comfort. Moreover, the probability of getting at least another hour of selling in today's session brings up the point of what will be damaged, as the market, in so far as it is indicated by the Dow Jones industrials, has only two points to spare between the closing level and the low of Thursday. New commodity troubles, centering on corn and cotton, which appeared yesterday, hardly constitute sufficient explanation of the decline.

Looking into business developments for a clue calls for no change in the thought that what decline we have seen the last ten days (or that which carried the market through the December bottom) is being seen as a movement strictly contrary to what business would seem to justify. In fact, that persistent tendency of business was indicated by the generally-accepted indices to sustain itself well above the low point established in December with the currently released figures for last week, showing another betterment of sufficient scope to place the business activity indices at new highs for this year. The last figures certainly add their contribution to the conviction that December was the low point in business, and now that it has eliminated 4 per cent of the 24 per cent below normal which the December lows represented, they have shown us every reason to consider that the market has been driven down considerably lower than the conditions it reflects are justifying. The decline yesterday, therefore, is, to say the least, disconcerting. But I would allow one or two sessions to pass by before concluding it is anything beyond one more of the well-engineered raids that the bear party is capable of.

Price Changes Small in Mines and Calgary Oils; Market Drifts Aimlessly

VANCOUVER, May 1 (CP).—The Vancouver Stock Market commenced the new month with a colorless session. Aside from continued realizing in Mercury Oil, prominent shares drifted aimlessly within restricted circles. What price changes appeared in the final analysis were insignificant. Transactions fell approximately 10,000 shares below the Thursday turnover.

In sympathy with upward tendencies in the early trading on Toronto Standard, a few selected issues advanced modestly here. However, indifferent buying support hampered the recovery, and the market dragged to an uneventful close.

A strong tone developed in Mercury during the first hour, but in the late dealings a flood of selling orders depressed the stock to close with a net loss of 1 cent at 17 1-2 cents bid. A.P. Consolidated and Mayland both succeeded in closing 1 cent net higher, the former at 23 1-2 cents and the latter at 49 cents. Eastcrest dropped 1 cent to 51 cents, after selling up to 55 cents, and Lowery Pete sagged 3 cents to 22 cents bid.

Pioneer Gold and Big Missouri attracted moderate buying on the mines board. Big Missouri crossed the board steadily at 38 cents and closed at 37 1-2 cents, up 1-2 cent net, while Pioneer, in a movement of 800 shares, hardened 1 cent to 1.61 bid. Oregon advanced slightly to 10 cents. The base metals groups ended the day unchanged.

TORONTO GENERAL STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, May 1 (CP).—Toronto Stock Exchange market weakened perceptibly in the final hour of trading today. A wide-open break in Noranda which carried the price down some four points from the high of the day featured the market and had an unsettling effect upon the entire list. Trading increased on the reaction but during the greater part of the day it had been extremely slow.

Nickel closed down more than a ½ point, Brazilian, C.P.R., among the leaders, were down nearly 1 point. Ford of Canada reacted to 19 where it was off 1½ points from last night. Service Stations preferred sold at 71, down 1 point. Oils were irregular and Imperial and International Petroleum weakened towards the close and B.A. Oil held rather well.

NEW YORK, May 1 (CP).—Standard Oil Company of New Jersey directors today declared the usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 25 cents.

Declaration of this regular extra was good news to Wall Street, where there had been some apprehension lest the extra payment be discontinued in view of the unsettled conditions in the oil industry.

Canadian Mining Manual for 1931 Makes Interesting New Departure

The fortieth annual edition of The Canadian Mining Manual resembles its predecessors in that it is an encyclopedia of information on Canadian mines.

A complete and accurate review is given of the progress of mining in each province, and of the mining situation today. Statistics of production are given with respect to all minerals worked. The mineral resources of each province are detailed, both metallic and non-metallic. In short, it is a volume to which the layman may turn as a work of reference. In this respect the present 1931 edition differs from its predecessors only in its greater fullness and completeness. But in another respect a new departure is made. The treatment of the subject is approached from the industrial standpoint.

The Manual for 1931 does not confine itself to an account of the mines and mineral resources of the provinces. It goes fully into the methods used, and deals with the varying industrial problems presented in the case of each mineral and with the equipment and practices followed in solving these problems. In the prospecting and development section, for instance, an account is given of geophysical prospecting, diamond drilling, the different types of implements used, the equipment of camps, the gas consumption figures for different outboard motors, tractor haulage, industrial diamonds, and so forth.

Modern mining practice is similarly approached. There are, for instance, sections on the development of the modern hollow steel drill, air compressors, rock drilling, the driving of tunnels, small and large, the composition and use of high explosives, mine pumps, mine mills, methods of ore treatment, mine machinery, and a long list of similar subjects. It is, in short, a volume of information not only for the layman but for the mine operator, prepared by competent authorities. As an appendix there is an exhaustive buyer's index detailing where everything that may be wanted in conection with a mine may be purchased.

Estimates of this year's crop made one month ago placed it at 644,000,000.

New Canadian Liner May Get Back Blue Ribbon of Atlantic

British Press and Shipbuilders Hopeful That the Canadian Pacific Empress of Britain Will Lower Europa's Time for Crossing

Evidence of the pride with which Great Britatin looks upon Canadian achievements as a maritime power, and of the value to the Empire as a whole of Dominion activities, is voiced in the leading editorial of The London Evening News for April 4.

Under the heading, "The Shipbuilder's Shop Window," the editorial says:

"In these days of British success in new speed achievements on land, on water and in the air, it is not to be forgotten that we have still to win back the record for the crossing of the Atlantic by liner which has been held by the German liner Europa since March of last year. Therefore the trials of the Canadian Pacific 42,500-ton liner, Empress of Britain, will be watched with a great deal of interest and hope, for her engineers think it possible that she may win pride of place once more for the British Empire.

"This record may mean little enough in itself, for British-built ships are still the best in the world. But it has to be accepted that the Atlantic is the shipbuilder's shop window, and if you have world-beating goods they must be of the kind that can be shown in the window if the goods they must be of the kind that can be shown in the window if the world is to know about them. Unless we can demonstrate that we can build a ship to beat all comers on the great test of crossing the Atlantic at a better average speed than the ships of any other nation, we shall not be held to be on top in maritime engineering, however pre-eminent we may be in other departments of shipbuilding.

"Such is the belief in the skill and experience of British engineers that some people wonder that we should ever have lost what is sometimes called 'The Blue Ribbon of the Atlantic.' Are our engineers losing some of their old skill? Are they being beaten in the race to keep up with the advancement of scientific knowledge? The answer is that we are still suffering from the aftermath of the war.

"Our losses in shipping during the war were very great, and these were in part made up for in the confiscation of German liners, several of which are now running on the Atlantic route under the British flag. These, and our own which were built before the war, like the gallant Mauretania, have had to be depended upon to uphold our speed prestige. Our rivals, the Germans, have built new ships, into which they have been able to put all the latest improvements of scientific knowledge in marine engineering.

"Now the race for the coveted blue ribbon begins afresh. It will not be decided all at once, for, besides this Canadian Pacific liner, there are two new 70,000-ton Cunarders preparing to enter the field. The United States is building two fast ships of 50,000 tons, and the French Line in January ordered the fastest and largest electrically-propelled passenger ship in the world. This last is to be ready in the Spring of 1934, so that the new British greyhounds of the Atlantic must put up such speeds as will both establish supremacy and maintain it for several years to come.

"Much has been made of the comfort and luxury of the new German liners, and such modern equipments as they possess are not to be belittled. They, too, are important, and are a factor in the competition for passengers, which is the real reason for building better liners. In this matter of luxury and comfort the new British ships, we may be sure, will not be behind. The new Empress of Britain is said to have more space for passengers and their comfort than any other liner in the world.

"But the big thing is her speed; and while the fact that her equipment includes beauty parlors, shops, gymnasium, squash rackets court, hard tennis courts and the largest swimming pool on any Atlantic liner, the news we await with strong hopes is the result of her speed trials, which begin on Monday, and of the behavior of her wonderful engines under their first test."

ENOUGH BOATS FOR BUSINESS

Statement Issued by Secretary of Owners' Association Tells Strike Situation

VANCOUVER, May 1.—About 50 per cent of the towboats in the strike of Canadian Merchant Service Guild members will be operating again by Monday, it was forecast today by James E. Hamilton, secretary of the Towboat Owners' Association.

Many vessels owned by companies who refused to sign the Guild agreement are already manned, Mr. Hamilton said, citing the Cates Towing Co. and the Island Tug & Barge Co. as among the firms who have nearly all their boats at sea. "By Monday," he said, "we expect to have about 50 per cent of the boats working, and that is all we need for current towing needs, owing to the condition of the lumber industry."

So far as the Guild is concerned matters remain at a deadlock. The sudden break in negotiations, it is said, came as a result of an offer by the owners to continue parleys providing that the men go back to work pending a settlement.

Ottawa has been advised of the breakdown in negotiations and action by Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, in appointing a conciliation board is anticipated immediately.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, May 1.—The motor vessel Ocelot, which has been laid up here for many months for repairs and change of registration, is now under Newfoundland registry and will sail deep-sea, ballast and stores, early next week. It is understood she will be engaged in traffic between ships at sea off the Mexican shore and Mexican ports. The vessel was formerly under the Mexican flag.

Ss. Canadian Ranger, Capt. W. H. Millar, of the Canadian National Steamships Ltd. intercoastal fleet, has left Prince Rupert with a cargo of lumber. The ship will make calls at Union Bay and Fraser River ports to complete her cargo for Saint John, Halifax and Montreal.

Belated word received from off the Mexican coast is that the liquor carrier Ruth B., which took fire a fortnight ago, was not seriously damaged. Her engineer died of burns, and one of the other members of the crew suffered a burned arm, but the fire itself was extinguished before it had burned more than the galley. The cargo, which was said to have been 1,200 cases of liquor for Mexico, was undamaged.

German Seaplane Now Lying at Rio de Oro

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, May 1 (AP).—The German seaplane DO-X, which left here this morning, landed this afternoon at Rio de Oro, in the Spanish Province of Rio de Oro, on the West Coast of Africa.

She is resuming the transatlantic flight to South America which was interrupted last November when fire destroyed one of her wings at Lisbon. She has been here since January and yesterday made her first trial flight since last Winter.

After the damaged wing had been repaired she got this far, but bad weather postponed further flight from day to day, and in February, when she tried to take off from Gando Bay, high seas battered her so badly that she had to put in for repairs once again.

Drowned While Fishing Fraser River Thursday

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 1.—Evangelo Capaduca, seventeen, Greek fisherman, was drowned in the Fraser River on Thursday. Capaduca had pulled in his net and started the boat engine. While standing on the wet dock he slipped into the river. He was missed when the boat drifted ashore. The body was recovered by other fishermen a few hours afterwards.

IS NOW AT REYKJAVIK

Captain Albin Ahrenberg Makes Good Progress Towards Greenland

STEAMER ODIN NOW NEAR ICE BARRIER

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 1 (AP). — Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish civilian pilot, who is en route to Greenland in an effort to rescue Augustine Courtauld, missing British scientist, arrived here from the Faroe Islands at 10:05 o'clock tonight.

A wireless message today from the steamer Odin, which is proceeding to Greenland to aid in rescue of the missing British scientist, said that it was nearing the ice barrier and expected to reach it sometime today.

Professor Johannesson, leader of the Odin expedition, wirelessed: "When we arrive at the ice barrier we shall sail southward in the hope of finding some inlet from where we can start our flights."

LOOK FOR INLET

BERGEN, Norway, May 1 (AP).—Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish civilian pilot, took off from here in a heavily loaded amphibian plane at 6 o'clock this morning, for Thorshavn, Faroe Islands, on the first lap of a flight to Greenland, where he will look for the missing British scientist, Augustine Courtauld.

From the Faroe Islands, Captain Ahrenberg will fly to Reykjavik, probably today. It is about 390 miles from Bergen to the Faroe Islands, and about 528 miles from the Faroes to Reykjavik.

Captain Ahrenberg flew from Malmo to Bergen Wednesday, but was prevented from taking off yesterday by bad weather. Reports from Iceland said zero temperatures prevailed there, and there was danger of ice forming on the wings.

IS WELL EQUIPPED

Captain Ahrenberg's plane is equipped with pontoons and replaceable skis by which it may alight on the snow in the desolate Greenland regions where Courtauld is lost.

Courtauld, a member of the British Arctic air route expedition, volunteered to remain on the ice cap all Winter to obtain meteorological data. Since then relief expeditions which were sent to pick him up could not locate his camp.

Yacht Committees Prepare Ambitious Schedule for Year

Local Club Members Provided With Plenty of Sport—Star and Dinghy Races Featured for Saturdays—International Meet Big Event

Active members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will have no reason to complain because of a lack of competitive features during the season, which will be officially ushered in locally on May 23, 24 and 25, when the boats of the fleet will get underway from their moorings at Cadboro Bay on a cruise to Boot Bay, Saturna Island, returning home on the third day.

The big event of the year will be the joint meet of the Pacific International Yachting Association and the Pacific Coast Yachting Association regatta to be held at Bellingham on July 2, 3 and 4. The Victoria boats will leave Cadboro Bay on June 30, and will rendezvous at Echo Bay, Sucia Island, with boats of the other clubs in the association. From this gathering place, races for the Sir Thomas Lipton Perpetual Trophy for schooners, yawls and ketches, and the Pacific Northwest Perpetual Challenge Trophy for cruising sloops, will start, the finish to be at Bellingham.

RACE AT COWICHAN

The local club will again provide the facilities for starting and taking the finishes of the Swiftsure Lightship race from Cadboro Bay to Swiftsure Bank, which the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club will again sponsor. For motorboats, the Hathaway Cup race from Seattle, and the Capital to Capital race from Olympia, will both finish at Cadboro Bay. In addition to the racing at Cowichan and other club events of a more ambitious character, there will be a number of Saturday matinees on the Cadboro Bay course for stars and dinghys, as well as several club cruises to nearby points.

To draft the programme for the season, the combined sailing and motorboat committees of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club met at the Cadboro Bay clubhouse on Thursday evening, and decided on the following events before adjourning.

Opening day, May 23, cruise to Boot Bay, Saturna Island. Race for motorboats; first of series for Burchell Cup. May 24, flag salute; cruise from Saturna to Julia Island. May 25, cruise home. May 30, races for stars and dinghys, first of series; flannel dance in evening.

SELLING EXCURSION FARES THIS MONTH

Pacific Northwest railroads will begin selling Summer excursion fares on Friday, May 22. The tickets will be on sale daily thereafter until October 15, fifteen days later than last year, and will permit the return trip to be completed as late as October 31.

Fares this year will be substantially the same as in previous years, but railroad agents state that the Summer excursion fares will be considerably lower than the one-way coach and tourist fares inaugurated during the Winter. The Summer excursion fares also permit passengers to occupy standard Pullman sleepers, upon payment of usual berth charge, and allow liberal stop-overs and other privileges.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

EDMONTON, May 1 (CP).—Frank Roye, Vancouver, dining car chef, who suffered a broken back when the Canadian Northern Railway transcontinental flyer was derailed twelve miles west of Edson on April 13 last, died at Edson Hospital on Tuesday. A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury.

The whole house is in perfect condition throughout, and the garden! That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOW THE HEART IS PROTECTED IN EMERGENCIES

One of the things we are apt to forget is that while the stomach, heart or any other organ has a special job to do in the body, nevertheless other organs can affect its workings; actually hurrying or slowing up these workings or efforts.

As you know, the heart has what is known as "reserve," a sort of extra power it can call on in an emergency; and it is this power that enables it to carry an individual through a severe illness, and still have enough power to keep up the circulation until he is well again.

At first it was thought that it was a juice in the walls or muscles of the heart that was responsible for heart reserve, as a juice made from the muscle wall of the heart injected into the heart stimulated it into more powerful action. However, it was discovered that juices extracted from other organs, the stomach, for instance, had the same effect.

That other devices are present in the body to protect the heart and thus keep it going as long as possible has been demonstrated by research physicians at the Mayo clinic, at Harvard University, West Virginia University and other places.

They have found that the sack in which the heart rests—the pericardium—prevents the heart dilating or enlarging too much when it is under severe pressure from some infection in the system.

They have learned, also, that the nerve systems which act on the heart, one making it go faster, and the other slowing it up, or steadying it, oppose one another when the safety of the heart demands it.

Thus, a heart that might beat the opposing, or slowing up, nerve is cut.

Such ranges of operation of the two systems which control the heart, show that the one mechanism or system serves especially to give the heart an opportunity to rest, whereas the other system acts in emergencies and enables the heart to work vigorously when there is need of physical effort or stress.

It is certainly gratifying and reassuring to know that the heart, the organ that keeps everything going in the body, has these "protective devices" always at hand when emergencies arise.

Reddy Knows When He Has Enough

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Enough is all you ever need,
And wanting more betokens greed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Having discovered where the nest of Whitetail the Marsh Hawk was, Reddy Fox was satisfied for the present. He hadn't actually seen that nest, for the bushes growing around it hid it from anyone looking down on it, but a telltale feather that had fallen from the tail of Mrs. Whitetail enabled Reddy to guess exactly where that nest was. He knew every inch of that little dry mound just a little way in from the lower side of the Old Pasture.

"Mrs. Whitetail dropped that feather, for now I think of it I noticed a gap in her tail when she turned in the air," thought Reddy.

That feather wasn't white. It was brownish with dusky bars across it. The long feathers of the tail of a Marsh Hawk are not white, but the short feathers that cover the base of the tail are pure white, making a white spot easily seen for some distance. So his neighbors call Mr. Marsh Hawk Whitetail. Mrs. Whitetail is brown, while Whitetail himself is bluish grey, and he is smaller than his mate.

Reddy didn't try to get any nearer that nest that day. "She is still sitting on eggs," thought he. "If there were babies there she and Whitetail would be bringing food. I'll keep out of sight so that they will not suspect that I know where their nest is and later when the young are big enough to make it worth while I'll watch my chance to get them."

So after that Reddy stole over there every few days to see what was going on. He knew when the eggs hatched by the excitement of Mr. and Mrs. Whitetail. His eyes gleamed and his mouth watered. After that he spent much time hidden in the bushes where he could watch what went on around the Whitetail home. They were busy days for the Whitetails. Growing children require a lot of food, and Mr. and Mrs. Whitetail were kept busy hunting from daylight to dark. At first one always remained at the nest while the other was away. But as the young Whitetails grew bigger they demanded more food and father and mother were forced to leave them alone at times while both hunted. However, Reddy noticed that one or the other never was far away. One hunted near home while the other hunted far away across the Green Meadows.

So Reddy watched and bided his time and planned how he would slip in when both Mr. and Mrs. Whitetail were away. How many babies there were he didn't know, for not yet had he had a chance to look into that nest, but by their cries when food was brought he guessed that there were several.

At last one morning Whitetail and Mrs. Whitetail left the nest together and both headed for the Green Meadows. "Now is my chance," thought Reddy.

He slipped from his hiding place, leaped lightly across the wet, open space to the dry mound where the nest was, and swiftly crept through the bushes. There was the nest and there were the young Whitetails quite filling it, their first feathers showing through the down.

"One, two, three, four, five," counted Reddy gloatingly, and wished that Mrs. Reddy was with him. He hadn't expected to find so many. He approached the nest and was just about to seize the nearest one when there was a rushing sound, and before he could so much as turn his head he was knocked flat. Before he could get to his feet he was struck again, this time with a stout hooked bill that tore his coat and hurt. Mrs. Whitetail had caught a Mouse just after leaving and had returned in the nick of time.

Screaming shrilly she pounded Reddy with her wings, and tore at him with claws and beak. He did his best to fight, but he didn't have a chance. No sooner would he get to his feet than he would be knocked over again. Once he caught a wing in his teeth and held on despite the cruel blows from that hooked beak. It was then that with a hiss of wings Whitetail arrived and knocked Reddy almost breathless. That was enough. All Reddy wanted now was to get away. He is no coward, but he knows when he has had enough, and he had had enough now. For an instant he was free and he took advantage of the opportunity. He dodged under a bush and then ran. As he crossed the wet open space he was struck again and rolled in the mud. Then he reached the bushes and safety. He had had more than enough.

The next story: "Reddy Is Ashamed to Go Home."

HOW IT STARTED

By Jean Newton

A STUNT

"Why should a trick or anything done in a peculiar or striking way be called a stunt?" asks one of our readers.

And the answer we find to be as surprising as anything in the strange story that language has to tell.

Properly, a stunt is a feat or performance so striking as to attract attention. And the term originated in the fact that stunted acrobats or dwarfs familiar to the modern circus, were a great drawing card with audiences.
